A Guide For Newlyweds

There are some couples who never enjoy a church service and others who always have a good time with a prayer service. But they would never think of being either of those outside New York City. The reason is simple: They go to church. They are Jewish and never miss a service. The only difficulty is that the church is in New York City, and the only place from which to reach it is a subway. It will not help them in starting their home, but it will make it easier for them to get to a service, a church, a married life without the church has a deciding part.

THE COST OF SELF-WILL

Practical Guidance Formula 1424 Background: People who have no plan in life are often half in love with their own plans. They may be half in love with the idea of being rich, and half in love with the idea of being poor. They may be half in love with the idea of being healthy, and half in love with the idea of being sick. They may be half in love with the idea of being young, and half in love with the idea of being old. They may be half in love with the idea of being happy, and half in love with the idea of being sad. They may be half in love with the idea of being strong, and half in love with the idea of being weak. They may be half in love with the idea of being wise, and half in love with the idea of being foolish. They may be half in love with the idea of being beautiful, and half in love with the idea of being ugly.
