Raising Kids In Panola County Proves To Be Very Costly Item

The cost of raising a child in Panola County is very high. According to the latest figures from the Department of Social Services, the average cost of raising a child from birth to age 18 is $250,000. This includes expenses for food, clothing, shelter, education, and health care. The cost is highest for children from low-income families, as they may require additional support services.
