SEEN WHAT I MEAN?

By RAY SWINDELL

The bombshell - the word has hit the street...the end of the line...for the city in the South. The time has come for the city to face the fact that it can no longer afford to remain on the margins of the national scene. The city's future is now in the hands of the principal leaders of its political establishment.

The facts can no longer be denied. The city has reached a crossroads. It must choose between the past and the future. The city must decide whether it will continue to rely on the old, outmoded methods of decision-making or whether it will adopt new, innovative approaches. The choice is clear: the city must move forward or it will be left behind.

The leaders of the city have a responsibility to the people they serve. They must be honest and forthright in their decisions. They must be accountable to the public. They must be willing to make difficult choices in the interests of the city's future.

We have reached a critical moment in the history of the city. The decisions made now will determine the future of the city. The future of the city is in the hands of its leaders. The city must act now to ensure its future success.
