Vanishing Era

"If nothing happens, it's just as if nothing had happened." The statement was made by a group of leaders who felt that the country was stagnant and needed new ideas. However, the same thing can be said about the automobile industry. While the car is still one of the most popular forms of transportation, its days may be numbered. The rise of electric and self-driving vehicles is threatening to change the way we travel, and there may be a time when the car is not as common as it is today.

Our Resources

The United States has been blessed with a wealth of resources that have helped it grow and prosper. However, these resources are not infinite, and it is important that we use them wisely. One way to do this is by building a renewable energy grid that can provide power to homes and businesses without relying on fossil fuels. This would not only reduce our dependence on foreign oil but also help to protect the environment for future generations.

Sensing the News

Federalized Medicine

The government has taken a step towards federalizing medicine, with a new plan that would allow patients to receive care from any provider, regardless of their location. This would provide more flexibility for patients and help to lower costs. However, it is important that the plan is implemented carefully to ensure that it does not undermine the quality of care.

Buck Passing

The policy of "buck passing" has been used by some politicians to avoid responsibility for their actions. This is unacceptable and it is important that leaders take responsibility for their decisions. The public has a right to know where their tax dollars are going, and it is up to elected officials to ensure that they are being spent wisely.

Logan News Briefs

- The city council has approved the construction of a new park in the downtown area.
- The school board has announced that it will begin a search for a new superintendent.
- The chamber of commerce is hosting a conference on small business.

You can't listen to a blackboard.

You have to listen. And you have to listen to both sides of the story. There are benefits and drawbacks to every decision, so it's important to consider all of the information before making a judgment.

Tax Expenditures

The tax expenditure is a benefit for those who purchase an automobile. However, this benefit is not available to everyone, and it is important that it is used wisely. Many people use the money from the tax expenditure to pay for gasoline, which only adds to the cost of owning a car. It is time to consider whether this benefit is necessary and if there are better ways to use the money.

Out of the Past

"From the Files of the Carthage Daily News" is a column that highlights events from the past. This week, we look back at the time when the city was first established and the challenges that it faced.

- The city was founded in 1856.
- The first school was opened in 1860.
- The first newspaper was published in 1870.
