With the new legislation, the state government has moved to regulate more closely the activities of landlords, including the enforcement of rent control laws and the regulation of housing standards. This has led to a significant increase in the number of lawsuits filed against landlords by tenants, who are alleging violations of the new regulations.

President's Employment Act Veto Will Be Felt In Panola County

Panola officials, as well as the employers in the county, were appalled and disappointed when the President of the United States issued a veto of the bill that would have mandated employment for disabled persons. The veto, signed by the President, carried the day in Congress and forced the issue to be revisited in the future. The overwhelming majority of employers in the county feel that the disabled should be given preference and that the disabled should be hired when possible.

Tatum's School Tax Suit Dismissed By High Court

The Tatum Independent School District's tax suit against the city of Tatum was dismissed by the Texas Supreme Court. A preliminary hearing on the case was held in the federal court in East Texas. The court ruled that the district did not have the right to sue the city for the taxes. The district is now considering its options and will likely appeal the decision.
