City Grows A Little
Commission Annexes 16.8 Acres

The City of Carthage grows as is evident by the Commissioners Court this week. The Court annexed 16.8 acres to the city, increasing the city's area by eight-tenths of an acre. The annexation was requested by local businesses and residents who wanted to expand their property lines.

Commissioner Fred Davis, who moved the annexation, said, "This is a positive step for the growth of Carthage, as it will allow for more development and economic growth in the area." Mayor Miller concurred, stating, "This annexation is a significant step in the expansion of Carthage, and we look forward to seeing the growth and development that it will bring."
VIEWPOINT

The CIA, Again!

Jerry Poynter says that the CIA has come under attack from a variety of quarters. This is not surprising, given the agency's long history of secretive operations and controversial actions. The CIA's reputation has been tarnished by allegations of misconduct, such as the assassination of foreign leaders and the use of proxy wars to advance U.S. interests. Poynter, who served as a CIA agent during the Cold War, believes that the agency has too much power and too little accountability.

Propaganda

The media is a powerful force in shaping public opinion, and the CIA has long been involved in manipulating news and information. Poynter argues that the agency uses propaganda to influence public opinion and to advance its own goals. He cites examples of the CIA's manipulation of news coverage during the Vietnam War and the Persian Gulf War, as well as its role in promoting democracy in other countries.

Out Of The Past

From the files of the Panama Watchman

The Watchman is the newspaper of the Panama Canal Zone. It was established in 1904 and was one of the first newspapers in the United States. The Watchman was closed in 1986, and its archives are now housed at the Library of Congress. Poynter has researched the Watchman's archives to uncover the truth about the CIA's involvement in Panama.

Stop Killing!

Loud calls for peace and justice have been heard in the region. The people of Central America are demanding an end to the violence and bloodshed. Poynter believes that the United States should support the people of Central America in their struggle for peace and justice. He cites the example of the Contras, a rebel group in Nicaragua, who have been supported by the CIA and other U.S. agencies.

SENSE THE NEWS

Apologists For Welfarism

Poynter argues that the CIA has been used to support a system of welfare that is designed to keep the poor in poverty. He cites examples of the CIA's involvement in the development of welfare programs in the United States and elsewhere. Poynter believes that the CIA's role in welfare is to create a dependency on government programs and to prevent the poor from organizing and demanding change.

UN Bloc

The CIA has been accused of manipulating the United Nations to advance its own interests. Poynter believes that the CIA has used its influence at the United Nations to block UN resolutions that would have brought peace to the Middle East.

LETTERS

Dear Mr. Smith,

I am writing to express my concern about the CIA's involvement in Panama. The CIA has a long history of covert operations in Panama, and its activities have caused great harm to the people of the country.

Sincerely,
