It Takes A Lot Of Timber...

by Jan Morris

It takes a lot of timber to support a lifestyle, particularly in Texas. In the past, it was often a matter of cutting and storing enough timber to last through the winter. Today, the emphasis is on managing the forest in a way that provides a steady supply of timber for the future.

The process begins with the identification of suitable timber areas. This is done through surveys and aerial photography to determine the type, quality, and distribution of timber. Once identified, the timber is harvested in a way that minimizes environmental impact.

The timber is then processed and prepared for transport. This includes cutting, chipping, and packing. It is then transported to the mills where it is milled into usable products. This process is carefully managed to ensure that the timber is harvested in a sustainable manner.

In conclusion, the harvesting of timber is a complex process that requires careful planning and management. It is an essential part of the forestry industry and plays a vital role in supporting the economy of the region.

Satisfaction Is Goal

Of L-P Forestry Division

by Lee Disston

Pilfering and hooliganism are the primary concerns of the L-P Forestry Division. The division is responsible for maintaining the quality and productivity of the company's forests. To this end, they work to ensure that the timber is harvested in a way that is both efficient and sustainable.

The division has implemented a number of initiatives to address these concerns. These include the installation of security cameras and the implementation of a strict harvesting code. The code sets out the rules by which the timber is to be harvested and ensures that the process is carried out in a way that is environmentally responsible.

In conclusion, the L-P Forestry Division is committed to ensuring that the timber is harvested in a way that is both efficient and sustainable. They are dedicated to maintaining the quality and productivity of the company's forests and are working hard to achieve this goal.

CAMERON COUNTY

NOTICE AFFORDING OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC HEARING

CORRIDOR (LOCATION) AND DESIGN

(Combined Hearing)

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is planning the construction of Farm-to-Market Road 333 in Cameron County from F.M. 377 east of F.M. 61 southeast 3.4 miles. The proposed project is entirely rural.

The proposed Farm-to-Market Road will generally follow an existing county road with minor deviations to improve access to the area. It will form part of the Camber county's road network in rural areas with a poor road system. The right of way will vary from a minimum of 20 feet to 50 feet in width. It will be discussed at a public meeting held on May 6, 1962.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design, environmental studies, and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the office of Supervising Engineer Thomas G. Hunter in the Wharton Building in Carthage. Information material is also on file with the County Judge.

To request copies of the Sidney Rosenblatt Assistance Program information and procedures, the public may contact the police or the proper office. As well, any construction plan can be obtained at the Supervising Engineer's office.

The Air Conditioning Committee may require that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed location and design for the Farm-to-Market Road project by delivering a written request to the proper office on or before June 14, 1962.

In the event that such request is made, a public hearing will be scheduled and notice will be publicized at the date and location of the hearing.
