RESOUE ATTEMPT — Carthage volunteer firemen battled a large brush fire that threatened several homes on the outskirts of the city on Sunday afternoon. The fire, which started in a field near the town, was brought under control within an hour.
Local Artist's Work Selected For Humane Society Calendar

Morris Lewis, a local artist, has had two of her paintings selected for the Humane Society of Jasper County's 2023 calendar. The paintings, titled "Bonds of Love" and "Freedom in Flight," were chosen from a total of 50 submissions by a panel of judges. The calendar will be available for purchase at the Humane Society's website and local pet supply stores.

Driver Education Tuition To Increase This Year

Effective immediately, the tuition fee for driver education courses at Carthage High School will increase from $220 to $240. Parents are encouraged to register their students as soon as possible to avoid any delays in the registration process. The additional funds will be used to support the school's driver education program.

Young Farmers Chapter Formed

A new chapter of the Young Farmers of America has been established at Carthage High School. The chapter, named the Carthage Chapter, will provide students with opportunities to develop leadership skills, gain agricultural knowledge, and network with other young farmers. The first meeting of the chapter will be held on October 15th at the Carthage High School cafeteria.

CHS Band Seeks Trophy

The Carthage High School Band is currently seeking donations to purchase a new trophy. The band's current trophy was awarded in 1999 and has been worn by many students over the years. With the band's upcoming performance at the UIL State Band Contest, they hope to earn a new trophy to showcase their hard work and dedication.

Ag Department Computes Market Basket Averages

The Agriculture Department at Carthage High School has computed the market basket averages for local produce. The department is working to develop an online marketplace that will allow students to purchase fresh, local produce directly from farmers. The online marketplace is scheduled to launch in the spring of 2023.

Between The Lines
‘Nuts’ To Boycott Demands

There’s a much talk these days of the need for an end to the American consumer culture that values material possessions and luxury items. We are increasingly aware of the environmental impact of our consumption patterns and the need to live more sustainably. This is especially true in light of the COVID-19 pandemic, which has highlighted the fragility of our supply chain and the importance of local production and consumption.

On the other hand, boycotts have been used as a tool of protest, especially in the context of political or social issues. The recent movement to boycott fast food chains has raised questions about the role of boycotts in promoting social change. Some argue that boycotts are a powerful way to bring attention to issues like labor rights and environmental sustainability, while others believe that they can be counterproductive, leading to market distortions and economic losses.

The key to successful boycotts is to target companies that have a significant market share and influence. By putting pressure on these companies, we can force them to change their practices and align with our values. However, it is important to ensure that any boycott is conducted in a responsible and ethical manner, avoiding harm to workers and communities.

In conclusion, while boycotts can be a powerful tool for social change, they should be used responsibly and with careful consideration of their potential impacts. We must also work towards creating a more sustainable and equitable society, where our consumption choices reflect our values and priorities.
