Suspect Nabbed In Decapitation Killing

A 14-year-old Negro, named as T. J. Brown, was nabbed yesterday night and was being held at the Perryville jail. According to police sources, it is expected that Brown will be tried by a special commission of the county's chief justices. The suspect was arrested without a warrant and was turned over to the Perryville jail. He was held for trial today.

The incident occurred on Easter Sunday morning at the home of a resident of this county. According to police sources, the suspect was in the area at the time of the incident and was taken into custody following his arrest.

Schools Protest State Valuations

School officials in this county have protested the state's valuation of local schools. According to the local school board, the state's valuation of local schools is unfair and does not accurately reflect the true value of local schools.

Associations of Private Junior College sports programs are offering "season tickets," which are "invaluable," according to Arthur McCutcheon, athletic director of the University of Texas. The season ticket costs $10 for students and $20 for non-students. The ticket entitles the holder to admission at all home games for the entire season.

Yule Parade
The annual Yuletide parade, sponsored by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, will be held on December 23. The parade will feature floats, marching bands, and Santa Claus. The parade route will begin at the courthouse and end at the Fort Worth Convention Center.

Weather
The weather in Fort Worth is expected to be mild during the week. However, a cold front is expected to move in on Friday, bringing a chance of rain. The temperature is expected to reach a high of 72 degrees Fahrenheit and a low of 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

No Arrests
The Fort Worth Police Department has arrested no individuals so far this week. The department is currently investigating several cases, including a robbery and a burglary.

Santa Seeks Letters From Local Area Youngsters

With Christmas just around the corner, Santa Claus is busy delivering presents to children throughout the country. Santa has received thousands of letters from children all over the world, asking for gifts and making wishes.

We can confirm that Santa has not been seen in Fort Worth this year. However, children can still send their letters to Santa Claus, who will be responding to them from his official residence in the North Pole.

The Letters
Children can send their letters to Santa Claus at the following address:

Santa Claus
The North Pole
Rochester, NY 14607

Children should include their full name, address, and a brief description of what they would like to receive as a gift.

Remember, Santa is very busy, so letters should be sent early to ensure that they are received in time for delivery.

The Pen Pal Project
For children who are unable to send their letters in person, the Pen Pal Project offers a way to put children in touch with Santa. Children can write to Santa and receive a personal letter in return.

Organizational Meeting Is Tuesday
Crafts Classes Set For Elderly

The Pen Pal Project is open to all children, regardless of age or location. Children can send their letters to Santa Claus, and he will respond with a personalized letter, including a drawing or a small gift.

For more information about the Pen Pal Project, children can visit the Santa Claus website or contact their local Santa Claus representative.

Schools Protest State Valuations

Several schools in Texas are protesting state valuation methods. The schools argue that the current system is unfair and that it does not accurately reflect the value of their properties.

The schools have filed a lawsuit against the state, arguing that the current valuation system violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

The lawsuit claims that the state's valuation system is discriminatory, as it disproportionately benefits wealthy districts and penalizes poorer districts.

The schools are seeking a court order to reform the state's valuation system, arguing that it is unconstitutional and violates the equal protection clause of the Constitution.

Organizational Meeting Is Tuesday

The school administration has called an organizational meeting for Tuesday to discuss the school's response to the state's valuation system.

The meeting will be held in the school's main auditorium, and all students and parents are encouraged to attend.

The meeting will focus on discussing the current state valuation system and exploring possible strategies to protest it.
