County-State Disagree Over JP Money

by Jim Rmjones
Editor

A disagreement among the county's top executive officials has erupted into a full-scale political argument over how to handle $3,000,000 in state funds allocated to the Panola County Health Department. The disagreement involves the allocation of funds to the county's JP fund, which is used to pay for the salaries of elected officials, including the county's JPs.

The state has allocated $3,000,000 to the Panola County Health Department, which is currently being managed by the county's JP. The county's JP has requested that the funds be used to pay for the salaries of the county's JPs, while the county's attorney general has disagreed, stating that the funds should be used for the health department's operations.

The disagreement has led to a impasse, with the county's JP refusing to allocate the funds as requested by the county's attorney general. The situation has also prompted the county's JP to request a meeting with the county's top executive officials to discuss the matter.

This is a serious issue that has the potential to create a political crisis in Panola County. The county's JP has stated that he will not allocate the funds as requested by the county's attorney general, and the situation has prompted the county's JP to request a meeting with the county's top executive officials to discuss the matter.

The situation is currently under review by the county's top executive officials, who are expected to make a decision on the matter in the near future. The county's JP has stated that he will not allocate the funds as requested by the county's attorney general, and the situation has prompted the county's JP to request a meeting with the county's top executive officials to discuss the matter.

Bakke Case

The Bakke case has once again created a dilemma for the Supreme Court. The case is about the possibility of giving preference to whites in a university college. The University of California has been accused of giving preference to whites in a specific college. The university says it has to give preference to whites because they haven't had equal opportunities. The state of California says the university's argument is a way of justifying its preference for whites. The Supreme Court has to decide whether the university can give preference to whites.

Phased Nationalization

Our government, in its wisdom, has decided to phase nationalization. This is a process by which the government will take control of some of the industries. This process will start slowly, and the government will gradually take control of these industries. The government will gradually sell off some of the shares of these industries to the public.

A Space Case

California is about to make a major discovery. Scientists believe they have found evidence of life on another planet. This discovery could change the way we look at the universe. The scientists hope to find a way to communicate with this new life form.

Cut Leads to Arrest

A burglary suspect was arrested after cutting the window of a house. The suspect was found hiding in the attic of the house. The police were able to catch the suspect because they were able to follow the trail of blood he left behind.

Out Of The Past

A new book has been released, and it's about a time traveler. The book is called "Out Of The Past" and it tells the story of a man who travels back in time to the past. The book is a great read and it's sure to become a classic.

Carthage Music Club Holds First Meeting Of Season

By Joanne Rawlings

The Carthage Music Club held its first meeting of the season on September 26. The club, which meets on the second Tuesday of each month, was formed in 1965 by a small group of women who gathered for a meal and enjoyed playing music. Now, the club has grown to include more than 50 members, with a mix of women from all walks of life. The meeting was held at the Carthage Room with a large turnout of club members. The club plans to host a variety of events this year, including a concert in December and a dinner in January. It is the club’s mission to bring together women who share a love for music and to promote music in the community.
