TERRI TANDOS: "THE ONLY LEASE I"
Prolonged pause

Under the terms of the Camp David agreement, Israel and Egypt have been working towards implementing the peace terms agreed upon in March. However, recent developments have raised questions about the feasibility of the agreement. The Israeli government has been accused of breaking the terms of the agreement, while Egypt has been criticized for not taking concrete steps towards implementing the peace process.

Political tension continues

The political situation in the region remains tense. There have been reports of clashes between Israeli forces and Palestinian civilians. The Israeli government has criticized the Palestinian leadership for not doing enough to prevent such incidents. Meanwhile, the Palestinian Authority has accused Israeli forces of indiscriminate violence.

Economic challenges persist

The economic situation in the region is also challenging. Many countries in the area are facing high unemployment rates and inflation. The recent drop in oil prices has caused further difficulties for oil-dependent countries. The World Bank has warned that the region needs urgent measures to stimulate economic growth.

The role of international organizations

International organizations such as the United Nations and the European Union have been active in the region. They have been working to mediate disputes and provide support to the countries affected by the conflict. However, some countries in the region have been critical of these organizations, saying that they are not doing enough to resolve the conflict.

The future of the Camp David agreement

The future of the Camp David agreement remains uncertain. While some countries in the region are optimistic about the possibility of a lasting peace, others remain skeptical. The situation in the region is complex, and resolving the conflict will require sustained efforts by all parties involved.
Youngsters compete for titles, crowns

There have been young girls who have grown to be women and moved on to greater things. This was the case for the Little Miss Panola County contestants. The young girls were present individually and judged on stage personality and poise.

GETTING READY—Anita Parham, a contestant for Miss Panola County, gets a hand from her mother, Sheila Parham, before the pageant begins.

CERTIFICATE—Miss Panola County, Teresa Tompkins, presents a certificate to the contestants for their participation in the Miss Panola County pageant.

LONG HAIR—Contestants for Miss Panola County have their hair cut short for the pageant.

FOR THE WIN—Julie Macon, center, and Karen Green, right, are Miss Panola County 1980 contestants. They are all smiles as they wait for the results.

Heroines who don't stay home

By NICK MASCARE

The film industry is full of women in all types of roles. There are female leads, female supporting characters, and even female villains. But one thing is clear: women are no longer just playing the same roles over and over again.

The film industry has evolved over the years, and so have the roles that women are given. Women are now being cast in a variety of roles, both on and off the screen. This is a positive change, as it allows for more diversity and representation in the industry.

However, there is still a long way to go. Women still face challenges in the film industry, such as being paid less than men for doing the same work. But with more and more women being given opportunities, we can only hope that things will continue to improve.

Days due for cast changes

By JEFF SPOTTER

The cast of the new movie is in the midst of some changes. Several actors have been dropped from the cast, and new actors have been added. This is not unusual in the film industry, as changes can happen at any time.

The changes are due to budget cuts and changes in the script. The director is working hard to keep the movie on schedule, and the new actors are working hard to get up to speed.

Panola Junior College recap

Ponies have winning season and look for future

By RICK L. DAVIS

The Panola Junior College football team had a winning season this year, and they are looking forward to the future. The team played well throughout the season, and they hope to continue their success in the future.

The team is looking for new players and new recruits to help them continue their winning streak. They are also looking to improve their coaching staff in the hopes of winning even more games.

Fishing better at Lake Murvaul but six pound bass hard to catch

By JOHNNIE TATUM

Fishing has been great at Lake Murvaul this year, and the bass are biting well. However, finding a six pound bass has been quite the challenge.

The bass are more active in the morning and evening, so it is best to go fishing then. It is also important to use the right bait and equipment to catch the bass.

Softball tourney on tap in Gilmer

By SCOTT A. ROBERTS

The softball tourney is set to take place in Gilmer this year. The tourney is open to all teams, and it will be a great way for players to practice and compete.

The tourney will be held on a warm and sunny day, so it is a perfect time for softball. The tourney will have a good turnout, and it is sure to be a great event.

Baseball schedule

By RICK L. DAVIS

The baseball season is in full swing, and the teams are working hard to win games. The schedule for the season is set, and the teams are looking forward to the season.

The teams are playing well, and they are working hard to improve their game. It will be a great season, and the teams are sure to have fun.
