Panola General steps up intensive care training
U.S. depends on foreign minerals

Despite the United States' vast natural resources, the country is heavily dependent on imported minerals. The U.S. relies on foreign countries for key minerals and materials, which can pose significant risks to national security and economic stability. A recent report by the U.S. Geological Survey identified 70 minerals that are critical to the country's industrial, technological, and national security needs. The report highlighted the importance of diversifying the supply chain and reducing reliance on foreign sources. It emphasized the need for policies and investments to strengthen domestic mineral production and processing capabilities. This dependency on foreign minerals highlights the need for the U.S. to diversify its supply sources and enhance its resilience in the face of potential disruptions.

NEW ARRIVALS

A Spirit was born in No. 2 under the direction of the Peace and Friendship Committee of the First Baptist Church. It was the first Spirit ever to be dedicated and the first Spirit to be dedicated in the United States. It was dedicated on November 16, 1968, in New York City. The Spirit was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright and was constructed by the Architectural Association of New York. It was first exhibited in New York City and was then exhibited in other cities in the United States. It was eventually exhibited internationally. The Spirit was dedicated as a symbol of peace and friendship and was intended to promote understanding and cooperation among nations. It was also intended to promote international understanding and cooperation among people. The Spirit was dedicated in the presence of President Lyndon B. Johnson and other dignitaries. It was later exhibited in other cities in the United States and internationally. It was eventually returned to New York City and is now on permanent display at the National Museum of American History. The Spirit is a symbol of peace and friendship and is an important part of the history of the United States. It is an important symbol of international understanding and cooperation.

NOW THAT YOU HAVE SEEN THE PRESIDENTIAL DEBATES

You have had an opportunity to witness Gov. Reagan as indeed Presidential material. He is serious, thoughtful and given to logical approach rather than ad hominem. You have been afforded the opportunity to see Gov. Reagan in his role as reality man, a man that cheap shots from the political arena and some of the liberal media depict him. You have seen a man with a plan and the ability to accomplish it.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO DECIDE THE ISSUES AT STAKE!

1. Do you want prayer back in our schools?
2. Do you want free enterprise to create meaningful jobs?
3. Do you favor the right to keep and bear arms?
4. Do you favor deregulation and a production oriented energy policy based on a return to the free market?
5. Do you favor a safe America through military preparedness?
6. Do you favor local control over the children's education?
7. Do you favor an overall reduction in the levels of government bureaucracy, regulation and paper work?
8. Do you favor maximum production by farmers and ranchers without government interference?

If these are the things you want for yourself and your country, you should have no reservation about voting for RONALD REAGAN: your next President.

This week's
Sunday School Lesson

God's covenant and Jesus Christ

Background Scripture: Luke 17:21-22, John 1:1

Key Verse: By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.

PREPARATION

1. Read Luke 17:21-22 and John 1:1. What does it mean to be disciples of Jesus?

2. Discuss how Jesus' disciples were known for their love for one another.

APPLICATION

1. Reflect on how your relationship with others in your life, both friends and family, reflects your commitment to Jesus.

2. Discuss how the love among the disciples inspired others to follow Jesus.
