Collins raps growth, costs of committees

In a meeting in the Edwardsville public library, Edwardsville Alderman Mike Collins, Jr., made his concerns known about the growth and costs of the village’s various commissions and boards.

"I think it's important to control the number of these boards and commissions," Collins said. "They're costly and time-consuming. We need to look at what services these groups are providing and how we can make them more efficient."

INAUGURATION DAY

We'd like to extend our hearty congratulations to our newly elected President and Vice President, Ronald Reagan and George Bush. This Inauguration Day, we look upon their goals as American goals...and as the beginning of a strong era in American leadership. They will undertake the task of guiding this nation ahead, meeting tremendous challenges in the process, and facing prodigies of decisions that will effect each and every one of us, as Americans. We pledge our loyalty and support with continuous optimism and faith in their dedicated efforts towards lasting success.

Marshall's World

If anyone is in the world that had two children, it was President Nixon. Of course, he's had some help from friends in the Roman Catholic Church and from the Republican party, who have always been there. But he's done it on his own, you know.

Let's hope for a better future, with less dependence on oil. It's time for new ideas, new solutions, and new initiatives. Let's work towards a more sustainable future, with cleaner and more efficient energy sources.

Six years in the White House?

President Carter is greeted by 1,000 former employees of the White House as he heads for the airport for his last journey home after serving six years in the White House. The President, who leaves office on January 20, 1981, has been associated with the White House Administration for 20 years.\n
Sensing the News

People need view of task

As the new year begins, the President will face a series of challenges that will test his leadership and judgment. These challenges include the ongoing negotiations with the Soviet Union, the situation in the Middle East, and the economy at home. The President will need to take a clear and consistent view of these issues and work to achieve his goals.\n
Unity needed for the nation

On Tuesday, the United States will commemorate its first national holiday for the new president. The holiday, called Presidential Day, is a time for Americans to come together and celebrate the new president's inauguration. It is a time for unity and a time to remember the importance of our democracy.\n
