Shift in U.S. now official

Now its official. The center of gravity of the United States is now in Texas. Although some people are not happy about this change, the fact remains that the population of Texas has grown significantly, making it the most populous state in the union. In addition, Texas is home to many large companies and businesses, which contributes to its economic growth. While some may worry about the effects of this shift, it is important to remember that the United States is a diverse country with many different regions and cultures. Ultimately, the center of gravity is just a statistical indicator, and it does not necessarily reflect the political or cultural power of a state. We should celebrate the strength and diversity of our country, and work together to ensure that all voices are heard.

A look at some presidents

The United States has had a long history of presidential leadership, with each president bringing their own unique perspective to the role. Many of our most beloved presidents, such as Abraham Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt, left a lasting impact on the country. Some of the most notable leaders in recent times include Bill Clinton and Barack Obama. It is important to remember the good and bad aspects of each presidency, and to learn from the experiences of the past. As we look to the future, we should continue to support our leaders and work together to ensure a bright and prosperous future for all Americans.

Holding course in Mideast

The current situation in the Middle East is a complex and volatile issue that requires careful consideration. Many people are concerned about the ongoing conflict in Israel and Palestine, as well as the threat of terrorism in the region. It is important to remember that the Middle East is a region with deep cultural and religious roots, and that any solution to the conflict must take these factors into account. We should work towards a just and peaceful resolution, and support efforts to promote dialogue and understanding among all parties involved. In doing so, we can help to ensure a brighter and more hopeful future for all people in the region.

OBITUARIES

John Doe, the beloved public figure, passed away yesterday at the age of 85. Known for his dedication to serving his community, he was a respected leader and a beloved friend to many. His contributions to society will be remembered for years to come.

Paying your legislators: A good idea or a waste of time? The question of whether or not to pay your legislators is a complex one, and there are valid arguments on both sides. On the one hand, if you believe your legislators are not doing enough for you, it may be reasonable to consider paying them to ensure that your voice is heard. However, it is important to remember that the legislative process is designed to represent the interests of all citizens, and that paying a legislator is not the only way to make your voice heard.

The year is 1913 and a new Bell telephone BEGINNS ringing
throughout the land.
Ah, those were the days...

Now you can have those days with Southwestern Bell's new Country Jamboree® telephone
— a happy blend of yesterday's spirit and today's technology.

Lovely ivory-colored plastic and metallic silver plate, the Country Jamboree phone is a classic that blends with period settings and makes an attractive statement with the crisp tone and wide range of volumes it produces.

No matter where the telephone is placed — kitchen, den, family room, living room or OFFICE? in a place that will be seen and admired. Because it has modular components, installing it is as easy as putting together a puzzle.

Southwestern Bell, leading worldwide, the Country Jamboree phone is a pleasant reminder of those days when all phone conversations began with the words that worked:
