Carthage sewer permit extended for 5 years

The city of Carthage is extending a sewer permit that was granted in 1986. The permit allows the city to build a sewer line that will serve new development in the area. The extension of the permit is a result of a request made by the city council. The permit was originally granted to a developer who planned to build a new neighborhood, but the project was never completed.

Tina Anders

"Stand up and cheer" is something Tina Anders says a lot.

You'll be able to cheer, too, when you realize how much having a
ONE ACCOUNT® at Longview Savings will mean to you.

Actually two accounts in one, the ONE ACCOUNT® is a checking account that pays 5.5% interest, compounded daily, with only a $200 minimum balance.

Make your savings something to cheer about today—at Longview Savings.
Worrying about the warhead

The Reagan administration's decision to develop a new antiballistic missile system and a new class of nuclear-armed cruise missile has raised questions about the future of nuclear arms control. The administration argues that the new systems are necessary to protect the United States from attack by enemy missiles. Critics argue that the new systems will undermine the credibility of the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START), which is designed to limit the number of strategic nuclear warheads. The START treaty has been signed by the United States and the former Soviet Union and is currently being implemented. The United States has already signed the treaty, but the former Soviet Union has not. The administration has threatened to pull out of the treaty if the former Soviet Union does not sign and ratify it.

The "normal" Red Chinese

As long as Communist China behaves within the framework of the United Nations, it is an accepted member of the international community. However, when China behaves outside this framework, it is viewed as a threat to world peace. The United States and its allies have imposed economic sanctions on China in an effort to deter it from pursuing its aggressive policies. The Chinese regime has responded by increasing its military spending and developing new technologies. The United States and its allies are concerned about the possibility of a military conflict with China.

Getting children to talk ... then to hush!

Talking. That was the key word for the principal of the elementary school where I visited last week. Patti McAlmon, of the New School of Education, was very interested in hearing what children say and how they talk. She believes that children talk more when they are encouraged to do so. She also believes that children learn more when they have the opportunity to talk. She has found that children who are encouraged to talk do better in school. She has also found that children who are encouraged to talk are more likely to be successful in life.

BECKVILLE

The place to be on a hot day is Beckville. It's a small town with a big heart. The people are friendly and welcoming, and there's always something going on. The Beckville Volunteer Fire Department holds a fireman's ball every year, and it's a great time. The Beckville Volunteer Fire Department also holds a parade every April, and it's a fun event for everyone to enjoy. And of course, there's the Beckville Volunteer Fire Department's annual firemen's picnic, which is always a great time. It's a great place to live and work.
Carthage wins in Dallas!

By Richard Correia

Have you ever thought about what football on the high school level means to so many people? Probably not, that's okay. Football is a game of tradition, a game of community, and a game of culture. It's the thing that brings people together and creates a sense of belonging. And when a school wins, it's a big deal.

Ladycat JV wins match in volleyball

The Carthage Ladycats defeated the rival Liberty High School Lady Eagles 3-0 in a match played at home in Carthage. The team is currently unbeaten in conference play.

Bullpups gain split in opening games

The Beckville High School football team split their first two games of the season. They defeated Lindale 35-6 in their first game and lost to Woodville 14-7 in their second game.

Tradition, spirit and mojo what makes football fun

By Richard Correia

There's something about the smell of the turf, the sound of the cheering, and the feeling of excitement that makes football so special. And when a school wins, it's a big deal.
