The Panola Watchman

This priest was a real 'Little Rascal'

By MARSHALL DRUMLIN

Watchman Editor

To the people of Panola County, this week we offer this story about a priest who was a real 'Little Rascal.'

The story takes place in a small town in Texas, where a priest was known for his mischievous behavior. He would often slip away from the church to explore the nearby woods and play pranks on the townsfolk. One day, while wandering deeper into the woods, he stumbled upon a group of hunters who wereح

Lake Carthage plans shelved

By JEFF GUNST

Lake Carthage plans have been put on hold, according to a recent announcement from the Panola County Water District.

The district had been planning to build a dam and reservoir on Lake Carthage to provide additional water supply for the county. However, due to changes in water regulations and the need for further studies, the project has been temporarily suspended.

R. Jordan drops from CISD race

By SARA JOHNSTON

R. Jordan, a candidate for the Carthage Independent School District Board, has dropped out of the race.

Jordan had been running as a write-in candidate, but has now decided to withdraw from the race. He said in a statement that he has been focusing on other priorities and decided it was the best course of action for him.

2 Carthage residents win Galveston trips

By JERRY GENTRY

Two residents of Carthage won trips to Galveston in a recent drawing.

The trips were part of a promotional event at the Carthage Chamber of Commerce. The winners were selected from a pool of over 500 entries.

The trip included a stay at a hotel, a visit to the beach, and a chance to explore the area. The winners were delighted with their prize and thanked the Chamber for the opportunity.

Nuclear scenario

By Jeff Laudy

For viewers of NBC's "Special Bulletin" Sunday night, the impact of a nuclear explosion was as clear as day. In the film, the terrorist group "Enlightenment" had strapped an 8-megaton nuclear device to the Empire State Building and threatened to detonate it at 6 a.m. The city was thrown into panic, and everyone was on edge. The film was based on a real threat that the group had made against America. If it had happened, the consequences would have been devastating.

The film also highlighted the devastating effects of nuclear explosions. Buildings were flattened, streets were covered in rubble, and the city was plunged into darkness. The film was a warning to the world of the dangers of nuclear weapons.

The explosion made it clear that the city was not prepared for such an event. The film showed how scattered the emergency response was and how little coordination there was among the agencies.

I think the film was a good reminder of the dangers of nuclear weapons. It made us realize that we need to do more to prevent these types of events from happening. We need to work together to ensure that our cities are prepared for such a disaster. We need to develop plans and procedures to respond to a nuclear explosion. We need to ensure that our citizens are aware of the dangers and know what to do in such a situation.

The film was a powerful reminder of the importance of peace and diplomacy. We need to work towards a world where nuclear weapons are not necessary. We need to work towards a world where our differences are resolved through peaceful means. We need to work towards a world where our hard work and sacrifices are for a better future. Our families and our children need a world that is safe and secure. We need a world where everyone has the opportunity to live their lives in peace.

Beads observes anniversary

The company of the late Mr. Bead, a local businessman who passed away in 1950, was launched in 1920. The company has been in operation for 91 years and is still thriving. The Bead family has owned the company for three generations and is proud to continue the tradition.

The company was founded by Mr. Bead, a local businessman who had a vision to create a successful business. With his hard work and determination, the company grew and prospered. Today, the company is run by the third generation of Bead family members, who are dedicated to continuing the legacy.

Bead family members pride themselves on their commitment to quality and customer service. They have built a reputation for providing top-notch products and excellent service to their customers. The company continues to innovate and expand its product line to meet the needs of its customers.

The Bead family is grateful for the support of its customers and community over the years. They look forward to continuing to serve the community for many more years to come.

Holland to head Lions

D. J. Holland has been selected as the new head coach of the Carthage College football team. Holland, who has extensive experience as a head coach and assistant coach, replaces Brian W. Miller, who resigned last month.

Holland has been a part of the Carthage football program for the past 15 years. He served as an assistant coach under Miller from 1997 to 2002, and again from 2005 to 2010. Holland was also an assistant coach at the University of Wisconsin-Superior from 2003 to 2004.

Holland has a strong background in coaching and a deep understanding of the game. He is a proven leader who has developed many successful programs. Under his guidance, the Carthage football team is poised to take the next step towards success.

Beckville cites honor students

The Beckville Independent School District has announced its honor students for the 2017-2018 academic year. The honor students, who were selected based on their academic achievements and leadership qualities, are:

- Sarah Cooper
- John Smith
- Emily Johnson
- Matthew Green
- Ashley Brown

These students exemplify the high standards of excellence that the Beckville Independent School District upholds. Their dedication to their studies and their community is a testament to their commitment to personal growth and success.

I will continue to work for a stable and continued growth plan for Carthage and Panola County.

I will appreciate your vote April 2nd.

Circus termed success

The circus also caused quite a bit of excitement in the community, with crowds gathering to see the colorful performers and exotic animals. The success of the circus was attributed to the hard work and dedication of the performers and the local organizers. Overall, it was a thrilling event that brought joy and entertainment to the community.
