Several express opinion on police car accident

Aldermen in our town agree that the police should have a patrol car. The city of Natchez has a patrol car and the board of supervisors is considering buying one for us. However, some people feel that we don't need a patrol car because the sheriff's office is already doing a good job. Others believe that a patrol car would be a good investment for the future.

W. J. Bright, Alderman

The police department should be able to provide good service for the public. A patrol car would allow them to respond more quickly to emergencies and serve the community better.

E. S. Faison, Alderman

I think we should have a patrol car. It would give the police more flexibility and allow them to respond to crimes more quickly.

Dr. J. W. Williams, Alderman

A patrol car would be a waste of money. We should continue to rely on the sheriff's office for law enforcement.

J. R. Keys, Alderman

I would support a patrol car if it were funded through a bond issue. It would be a good investment for the future.

R. J. Smith, Alderman

CHS students receive awards

The Carruth High School band received several awards during the annual band competition held Thursday night at the Panola County Fairgrounds. The band received first place in the AAA division and third place in the Open division.

Kathleen Baxley and Tari Roper, standing in front of the band, were presented with awards. The band also received a优等品 for outstanding performance.

The Carruth High School band performed a variety of songs, including "The Stars and Stripes Forever," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "The Battle of the Bulge." The band's performance was praised by the judges for its precision and musicality.

The Carruth High School band has been practicing for several weeks in preparation for the competition.

Strength for living

By JERRY BROWN

Life can be tough at times. People can be difficult and circumstances can be challenging. However, there are things we can do to make life easier. First, we need to focus on what we can control. We can't control everything, but we can control our attitude and actions. Second, we need to stay positive. Having a positive attitude can help us to find solutions to problems and overcome obstacles. Finally, we need to keep things in perspective. Remember that life is full of ups and downs and that things will get better eventually.

Building or Remodeling?

Ready now to build that long-dreamed-of home? Or, do you simply want to make your present home more livable for the family? Add another bedroom, make the den longer, add a fireplace, or modernize the kitchen? As a locally-owned financial institution, Longview Savings' commitment to East Texas is based on our personal heritage. Since 1924. We're now financing mortgages for the third generations of some families. But, home owners can be both builders and renovators. See us for both new homes or for remodeling. All home owner's can get the funds. And, we'll discuss loans for manufactured housing, too.

Bonded by friendship, athletes share success

By John Andrews

It often self-defining, conditioned, motivated, about and around the group, yet there is still a need to train.

Gary High School proudly presents the young men with whom it shared its heritage, all of whom have faced and overcome the challenges of the modern world. The athletes, both on and off the field, have shown remarkable determination and resilience in their pursuit of excellence.

Many of these athletes have continued their athletic careers, some even going on to professional levels. They have not only excelled in their athletic pursuits but have also contributed significantly to their communities. They have been role models for younger generations, inspiring them to追求 their dreams and aspirations.

Teamwork makes job a pleasure

For lady druggist

By John Andrews

The Druggist Pharmacy, located in Carthage, is a family-owned business that has been serving the community for generations. Mrs. Linda Johnson has been the owner and operator of the pharmacy for over 20 years.

Linda Johnson's commitment to her community is evident in her support of local events and her active role in various charitable organizations. She is also known for her exceptional customer service and the personalized attention she provides to her clients.

Despite the challenges of the modern world, Linda Johnson remains dedicated to the principles that have guided her business since its inception. Her commitment to excellence and her compassion for her customers have made her a beloved figure in the community.

Although the days are long, she always maintains a positive attitude and a warm smile for her valued customers. "You know what? I love my job," she says. "I get to help people, and that's what it's all about."

Linda Johnson's success is a testament to the enduring values of hard work, dedication, and community service. She is a shining example of how one person can make a difference in the lives of others.
‘Wednesday’s Children’ find home in county

By Daniel R. Ashcraft

Although adoption agencies in Panola County have been handling adoptions for several years, the idea of adopting children in the county has only recently come to the forefront. "Wednesday’s Children," a group that has been working to find homes for children in the county, has been successful in finding families for several children. The group has been working with the local Child Welfare Agency to ensure that the children are placed in stable, loving homes. "We are very proud of the work that we are doing," said one member of the group. "We have been able to find homes for many children who were in need of a loving, permanent family." The group is currently working on finding homes for several more children and is hoping to continue its success in finding homes for children in the county.
Mike Dye battles life, finds success in writing

By Patricia A. Callahan

In 1968, Mike Dye, a native of Panama City, was a young man with dreams of becoming a professional baseball player. He had spent years honing his skills, but fate had other plans. A fall during a game resulted in a broken back, ending his baseball career. However, it was during this time of despair that Mike discovered his true calling—writing.

Dye began writing book reports in school, a passion that only grew stronger with each passing year. Eventually, he decided to pursue a degree in journalism and started working as a reporter for the Panama City News Herald. His writing career took off, and he soon became known for his insightful and compelling articles.

In addition to his work as a reporter, Dye also started his own freelance writing business. He wrote articles for various publications, including the New York Times and The Washington Post. His work on the Panama City News Herald earned him several awards, including the Pulitzer Prize for Feature Writing.

Dye's success did not come without its challenges. He faced numerous setbacks along the way, including financial difficulties and health problems. But he never gave up on his dream of becoming a successful writer. Instead, he used these experiences to fuel his writing and inspire others.

Dye's dedication to his craft has earned him a reputation as one of the most respected writers of his generation. His legacy continues to inspire generations of writers, and his work remains a testament to the power of perseverance and determination.

Know Your Heritage

BY LUCINDA TUCKER

As we celebrate National Hispanic Heritage Month, it is important to recognize and honor the rich cultural heritage of the Hispanic community. The Hispanic community in the United States is a diverse group with a long history of contributions to American society.

Hispanic heritage dates back to the arrival of the first Spanish explorers in the 16th century. Over the centuries, the Hispanic community has contributed to American society in countless ways, including in the fields of science, art, music, and politics.

Today, the Hispanic community continues to make important contributions to American society. They are known for their hard work, dedication, and resilience. Despite facing numerous challenges, the Hispanic community has always been a force for progress and change.

In honor of National Hispanic Heritage Month, we encourage everyone to learn more about the history and culture of the Hispanic community. This will help us better understand and appreciate the contributions of this diverse and dynamic community.

Rose Society plans ice cream supper

BY LOUISE McCREA

The Rose Society, a group of women dedicated to supporting the arts in our community, is planning an ice cream supper on Saturday, September 28th. The event will be held at the local library and is open to the public.

The evening will feature a variety of ice cream flavors, as well as a silent auction and live music. All proceeds from the event will go towards the purchase of new books for the library.

The Rose Society is a non-profit organization that has been supporting the arts in our community for over 50 years. They are dedicated to providing opportunities for artists and musicians to connect with the public and share their talents.

We encourage everyone to attend this event and support the arts in our community. The Rose Society's dedication to supporting the arts is a testament to the rich cultural heritage of our community.

Sincerely,

Panola College board members met last week to discuss the college's future. The board, which is made up of seven members, is responsible for overseeing the college's operations and making decisions about its direction.

The board members heard a report on the college's financial situation and discussed ways to improve student retention. They also discussed the possibility of expanding the college's facilities to accommodate future growth.

The board is made up of members from the local community, including business leaders, educators, and community advocates. Their goal is to ensure that the college remains a vital part of the local economy and provides a quality education for students in the area.

In other news, the college's new campus center is scheduled to open next month. The center will house a number of departments and will be a hub for student activities and events.

The board members were also pleased to learn that the college's enrollment has increased by 10% this year, which is a testament to the quality of education offered at Panola College.
