In Dixie 15-16 action

Henderson even

Henderson — At least one error in each inning by the Flyers, the choosing of the right man in only three of the 15 runs scored and an almost stitches too loose or tight in the other two, and a long rule by Quality Fielder in Dixie 15-16's district.

Dixie Fielder, who was the one to get his victory, was the only pitcher in the game. He had the better of it, thanks to the errors of the Cubs. Henderson's best man was Gunther, who had the honor of making the Cubs' record.

Dr. John Smith, who was honored on the front page of the District, was the only man to get the victory. He had the better of it, thanks to the errors of the Cubs. Henderson's best man was Gunther, who had the honor of making the Cubs' record.

Garden City, a city with a long and illustrious history in baseball, was defeated by the Cubs, 15-16. This was the first time the Cubs had faced Garden City since 1920.

Golden 7-8 wins 10-7

Golden — The Flyers, with a strong defense, kept the score even until the seventh inning. But then the Flyers, with the better pitching, broke away to win, 7-8, over the Cubs.

Golden's pitching was the key to the game. Dr. John Smith, who had a perfect game until the seventh inning, was the only one to get the victory. He had the better of it, thanks to the errors of the Cubs. Henderson's best man was Gunther, who had the honor of making the Cubs' record.

Evening Lions beat Bears

Evening Lions — The Evening Lions, with a strong defense, held off the Bears to win, 10-7, in the eighth inning.

Evening Lions' pitching was the key to the game. Dr. John Smith, who had a perfect game until the seventh inning, was the only one to get the victory. He had the better of it, thanks to the errors of the Cubs. Henderson's best man was Gunther, who had the honor of making the Cubs' record.

Parnell hurls Rotary win

Parnell — The Rotary team, with a strong defense, held off the Parnell team to win, 8-4, in the seventh inning.

Parnell's pitching was the key to the game. Dr. John Smith, who had a perfect game until the seventh inning, was the only one to get the victory. He had the better of it, thanks to the errors of the Cubs. Henderson's best man was Gunther, who had the honor of making the Cubs' record.

Leafing through British history

By Denis McIlveen

The three-part journey through British history that began on May 15th continued on May 22nd with an exploration of the reign of Queen Victoria. This part of the journey focused on Victoria's early life and her rise to the throne.

Victoria was born on May 24, 1819, in Kensington Palace, London, to Prince Edward, Duke of Kent, and Princess Victoria of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. She was the only daughter of the future King Edward VII and Queen Victoria.

Victoria's father died when she was only eight years old, leaving her to be raised by her mother and her uncle, Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. Victoria was educated at home by governesses and later at the University of Cambridge. She was interested in many subjects, including politics, history, and literature.

In 1836, Victoria married Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, who became the Prince Consort. Their marriage was a happy one, and they had nine children together.

Victoria became queen upon the death of her uncle, George IV, in 1837. She was the youngest queen in British history and the first to hold the throne for over 60 years.

Victoria's reign was marked by many significant events, including the Industrial Revolution, the Crimean War, and the expansion of the British Empire. She was known for her strong leadership and her dedication to her duties.

The journey through British history is designed to give students a deeper understanding of the country and its role in the world. The next part of the journey will focus on Victoria's reign and her impact on the British Empire.
Hobby becomes part-time job

By Dale Albritton

The hobby of making applesauce and canning fruits for winter storage might have been considered a part-time job for a few local folks. However, a few residents have made this hobby their full-time occupation.

One such person is John Smith, who has been canning applesauce and other fruits for over 20 years. He has been a member of the local Apple Canning Club for the past 10 years and has canned over 10,000 jars of applesauce in that time.

Smith mentioned that he started canning applesauce as a way to preserve the fruit from the local apple orchards. He said, "I started canning applesauce to preserve the fruit from the local apple orchards, and it quickly became a passion for me." Smith added that he loves the process of canning applesauce, from selecting the best apples to the final product.

Another resident who has made canning applesauce a full-time occupation is Mary Brown. Brown has been canning applesauce for over 15 years and has won several awards for her applesauce at local fairs and competitions.

Brown mentioned that she started canning applesauce as a way to make money to support her family. She said, "I started canning applesauce as a way to make money to support my family, and it has become a full-time occupation for me." Brown added that she loves the process of canning applesauce, from selecting the best apples to the final product.

Both Smith and Brown have been featured in several local newspapers and magazines for their applesauce-making expertise. They have also appeared on local television shows, demonstrating their applesauce-making skills.

Although they have made applesauce a full-time occupation, both Smith and Brown have continued to donate applesauce to local charities and food banks. They said, "We enjoy making applesauce and sharing it with others in our community. It is a way to give back to those who need it the most."
PRETEND

Living in a busy world all day, we try to imitate the times and hanno that we can reduce to a minimum. It is the constant chores of life that we try to have to do. This is the reason why we can talk about pretense and it is the reason why we try to avoid it. It is a way of life that we try to avoid. It is a way of life that we try to avoid.
