Five-hour ordeal ends safely as Jones surrenders

A manhunt for a burglary suspect in the Dallas area ended early Tuesday morning when the suspect turned himself in to authorities.

The suspect, identified as Michael Jones, was arrested without incident after police said he drove to a church in Dallas and turned himself in.

Jones, 28, was wanted in connection with a burglary that occurred early Sunday morning in the 1900 block of North Henderson Avenue.

Police said Jones entered a residence and stole a Oriental rug, a television, a stereo, and other valuables.

Officer John Smith, who was at the scene, said Jones told him he had committed the burglary and was willing to turn himself in.

Police said they were able to track Jones down through his car, which was found parked near the church.

Smith said Jones was taken into custody without incident and is expected to be charged with burglary.

The manhunt had lasted for several hours, with police searching multiple areas in Dallas and surrounding communities.

Officer Smith said the�...

Editorial:

It is time the city faced the dog issue

It is time for our city commission to get realities and take action. Let's get that dog issue cleared up. To delay it is to make more trouble and consternation. Let's get the city officials to work on the dog issue. It is time the city officials did their job.■

To the editor

A coach gives his perspective

P.O. Box 288

Letter to the Editor

It is not surprising that a number of people have written to me since I was appointed as a coach to express their reactions to the coaching position. I have a few suggestions which I would like to make:

1. The coach should have a high level of knowledge in the sport he or she is coaching.
2. The coach should be able to communicate effectively with the players.
3. The coach should be able to motivate the players to achieve their best performance.

These suggestions are based on my experiences and observations as a coach. I believe they can help improve the coaching process in our city.■

Computer problems

Word of the Week

"The only solution to a problem is to remember that the problem is not the answer." —Anonymous

Problem: My computer is running slow.

Solution: First, check if there is a software update available. Then, try running a disk check to see if there are any issues with the disk. Finally, consider upgrading your hardware, such as adding more RAM or upgrading your hard drive.■

ALL HOME SATELLITE SYSTEMS ARE NOT CREATED EQUAL!

I have been aVID subscriber to a local newspaper for many years now. I have always enjoyed reading it, especially the sports section. My only complaint is that occasionally the sports section is delayed a day or two. However, I understand that this is due to the nature of the sports section.■
