A LOOK AT IMPORTANT ISSUES FACING PANOLA COUNTY TODAY

Sunday, September 4, 1983

PANOLA COUNTY POST

---

Editorial:

Appeal shows system problems

The state has about as many women in prison as there are men, and not one woman on parole.

But the state has a parole system, and one wonders how it can be that there are so many fewer women on parole than men. The system is designed to help parolees reintegrate into society, not just to keep them out of prison. It's a failure.

The system is broken. It needs fixing. Unless we address the root causes of crime and rehabilitate offenders, we'll continue to see high crime rates and large prison populations.

Board rejects royalty owners appeals

Board members rejected the appeal of royalty owners who claimed they were not receiving fair compensation for their mineral rights.

The board stated that the current compensation rate was set based on market value and was fair. The royalty owners argued that the rate was outdated and should be updated to reflect current market conditions. The board refused to consider their appeal.

TALKLine 693-TALK

Well we got a lot of mail in city council tonight. Not many people showed up. We had a good few calls from people who were concerned about crime in the city. They felt that the police department was doing a good job, but they wanted to see more enforcement and stricter penalties.

McMahon re-trial begins Tuesday

The re-trial of Damon McMahon begins Tuesday. McMahon was previously convicted of murder, but his conviction was overturned due to a technicality in the trial process. McMahon's attorneys are hoping to secure a new trial and a new conviction.
