County to nominate appraisal board members

The board of directors of the county appraisal district has recommended the names of individuals to fill the vacancy on the appraisal district board. The board has recommended four candidates: Jack L. McElroy, James E. Johnson, William J. McElroy, and Barbara A. McElroy. The recommendation will be considered by the county commissioners at their next meeting. Mr. McElroy is a long-time resident of the county and has experience in real estate appraisal. Mr. Johnson is a retired state employee with a background in finance. Mr. McElroy is a real estate appraiser with over 10 years of experience. Ms. McElroy is a long-time resident of the county and has experience in property management.

Development proposal viewed

The proposal to develop a new shopping center in the downtown area of the county has been reviewed by the county planning commission. The commission has approved the proposal subject to certain conditions. These conditions include the provision of adequate parking, the preservation of existing trees, and the preservation of public open space. The downtown area has been identified as an area in need of development, and the proposal is seen as a way to bring new business and activity to the area.

CISD enrollment increases

CISD (Coppell Independent School District) has seen an increase in enrollment this year. The district has added new facilities and programs to accommodate the increase. The enrollment growth is attributed to the district's efforts to improve education and to provide a quality learning environment for all students. The district has also increased its focus on extracurricular activities and community involvement.

Funeral service set Saturday for V. H. Pitts

Funeral services for V. H. Pitts, 91, of South Irving, will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at First United Methodist Church. Mr. Pitts was a long-time resident of the area and was actively involved in the community. He will be remembered for his kindness and his love of gardening. The family will receive friends at the church before the service.

Harvest Carnival scheduled

The annual Harvest Carnival is scheduled for this weekend. The carnival will feature games, food, and entertainment for all ages. The event is organized by the local community center and is a popular annual event. The carnival will be held on Saturday and Sunday, weather permitting. The event will help to raise funds for the community center.

Chamber event fun

The Chamber of Commerce will host a networking event at the local country club on Friday evening. The event will feature food, games, and entertainment. Chamber members are encouraged to attend and participate. The event is a great opportunity to meet new people and to support the local business community.

Birdwell named ETCOG leader

Carl Birdwell has been named the new leader of the ETCOG (East Texas Council of Governments). Birdwell is a long-time resident of the area and has a background in government and public service. He will be responsible for managing the council's operations and ensuring that its goals are met. The council serves as a coordinating body for the region's counties and the local government entities.

Birdwell says he will make sure ETCOG serves as a voice for the region's residents. He will also work to improve the council's communication with the community. Birdwell has a passion for public service and is committed to making the region a better place to live. Under his leadership, ETCOG will continue to be a strong voice for the region.
There's nothing worse than that first haircut

by C.G. Come

I have a story about my first haircut that I think everyone can relate to. It was a pivotal moment in my life. Before the haircut, I was unrecognizable. People would mistake me for a different person. After the haircut, I was a completely different person. My friends wouldn't recognize me. My family wouldn't even know who I was. It was a real identity crisis.

But I was determined to find my new self. I started wearing different clothes, going to new places, and meeting new people. I even started dating someone who was completely different from my old types. It was a real transformation for me.

Of course, there were some ups and downs. I had to deal with some hair-related issues, like bad haircuts and styling. But I was able to work through those challenges and find a new sense of self. Now, I'm proud of my new look. It's a true reflection of who I am.

In conclusion, my first haircut was a turning point in my life. It was a difficult process, but it was worth it in the end. I'm now a more confident and self-assured person. I encourage everyone to embrace their new selves and enjoy the journey of self-discovery.

Sick and tired of snotty remarks

P.O. Box 518

L.A. Mayor

I opened the pages of this issue of the Panola County Post and I was immediately struck by the number of snotty remarks that were written. It's really quite令人反感. How can people generate so much negativity and animosity towards each other?

I think it's important that we all take responsibility for our own words and actions. We should all strive to be kind and considerate to each other. It's not difficult to do, and it can make a big difference in how people feel.

Of course, there are always going to be some who choose to be negative. But I think we can all work towards creating a more positive and supportive community. Let's all make an effort to be more understanding and compassionate towards each other.

Finally, I would like to encourage everyone to think before they speak. Be thoughtful and considerate of how your words may affect others. It's the least we can do to build a more positive and inclusive community.

Happy Big 40

Happy Birthday, Panola County! We're celebrating another year of growth and progress. Here's to Panola County's future.

Local rink joins national celebration

Skating proves to be healthful, fun

The American Heart Association and the President's Council on Fitness, Sports, and Nutrition are asking Americans to join in a national celebration of skating this September and October. The celebration is being called National Roller Skating Week, with events being held in communities across the country.

The President's Council on Fitness, Sports, and Nutrition will be reaching out to people in the community to encourage them to participate in National Roller Skating Week. The Council encourages people to try roller skating and to make it a regular part of their fitness routine.

"Roller skating is an excellent way to get exercise," said Dr. Jay A. C. Smith, President of the President's Council on Fitness, Sports, and Nutrition. "It's a fun and engaging activity that can be enjoyed by all ages."

As part of National Roller Skating Week, local rinks will be offering free or discounted skating nights for the community. The purpose of these events is to introduce people to roller skating and to encourage them to continue participating in the activity.

"We want to make sure that everyone has the opportunity to try roller skating," said Smith. "It's a great way to get moving and improve your overall health."

Mix insecticide at home to save money

Consumers may be able to save money and have more control over what goes into their insecticides by making their own insecticide.

"Homemade insecticides can be just as effective as commercial products," said insecticide expert Mark Carter. "And they can be made with ingredients you already have in your home."

Carter explains that common household items like dishwashing detergent and vinegar can be used to make effective insecticides.

"For example, a solution of dishwashing detergent and water can be used to control ants and cockroaches," said Carter. "And vinegar, mixed with pepper, can be used to repel pests like ants and mosquitoes."

Carter recommends that consumers consult with a local pest control expert before making their own insecticides to ensure that they are using safe and effective ingredients.

Tau Omega begins year with new leaders

The Tau Omega Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho at Southeastern Oklahoma State University installed eight new officers for the 2023-24 academic year.

The new officers are Ayanna Taylor, president; Autumn Burdette, vice president; Elizabeth Harris, secretary; Dakota Jones, treasurer; and the members of the Executive Board.

Each consecutive chapter of the national sorority for women must hold an installation ceremony to welcome new leaders and mark the beginning of a new academic year.

G ary H. Wright, Southeastern Oklahoma State University, was the guest speaker at the installation ceremony. He encouraged the new officers to "lead with a servant's heart and work to make a positive impact on the lives of those around them."

The ceremony was held in the Kappa Delta Rho sorority house on campus.
