Hunters get good deer start

Pondale County deer hunting opens this Saturday as thousands of locals are expected to head out to the pastures and woods for the annual fall hunting season.

The season opens with a bang, as the hunting is known to be good this year. Hundreds of deer were killed in the county last year, and the hunting is expected to continue this year.

County considers cutting constables

By Matt Atter

The annual hunting season in Pondale County has opened with a bang, as thousands of hunters are expected to take to the woods and fields for the annual fall hunt. The season opens on Saturday, and the hunting is expected to be good this year, with hundreds of deer killed in the county last year.

Locals are expected to aid in the rescue effort after a train derailed, killing four people and injuring many more. The circus is scheduled to perform here today, and the Showcase of Talent will take place on Thursday.

County officials are considering cutting the number of constables in the county. This would save the county money, but it would also mean that there would be fewer law enforcement officers on the streets.
County purchases eight new trucks, after all

Counties Commissioners, at their regular meeting, approved the purchase of eight new trucks.

Commissioners had said they were waiting to see if the county could purchase trucks at a lower price. However, after negotiations, the county agreed to purchase eight new trucks for $200,000, which will replace the county's existing fleet.
