Christmas brings memories of caroling times

By Rich Schiller

The traditional caroling song, "Oh! Holy Night," was first heard in 1818 and has been sung ever since. It is a beautiful song that captures the spirit of Christmas. But have you ever thought about how it got started?

The story goes that the song was written by a German priest, Joseph Mohr, who was a member of the choir at a church in Austria. He was asked to write a Christmas song for the choir, and he came up with "Stollen Nacht, Bethlehem." The music was written by Franz Xaver Gruber, another member of the choir.

The song was first performed on Christmas Eve in 1818, and it quickly became popular. Today, it is sung in many different languages around the world. It has even been translated into American English as "Oh! Holy Night".

In addition to the song, there are many other Christmas traditions that are associated with the holiday. For example, the tree is a symbol of Christmas. It was first brought to America in the 1600s by the Dutch, who used it as a symbol of the tree of life.

The carol "We Three Kings of Orient Are" was written in the 1850s, and it has been sung ever since. It is a beautiful song that tells the story of the three wise men who traveled to Bethlehem to see the baby Jesus.

The Christmas carols that we sing today are a testament to the enduring spirit of Christmas. They remind us of the joy and love that the holiday brings.

Happy Holidays,
Rich Schiller
Despite cost savings, many go to other hospitals

The first few minutes of each day are crucial for many people. For those who work in hospitals, it's the time they start their day and prepare for surgery. For those who receive care, it's the time they arrive and receive treatments. For those who work in hospitals, it's the time they start their day and prepare for surgery. For those who receive care, it's the time they arrive and receive treatments. But during this time, the amount of resources that are available to hospital patients can be limited.

For example, if a patient needs a surgery, they may not have access to the necessary equipment or supplies. This can lead to delays in treatment and even life-threatening situations. In some cases, patients may be forced to delay or cancel their procedures altogether.
