Clean-up campaign gets city support

By Carl Draper
Mount Pleasant Mayor John McVey said Tuesday that the city’s street cleaning crew was running out of time to clear up streets and alleys of rubbish before its annual spring cleanup campaign begins in April.

"We have a limited number of workers and we need to get the job done as quickly as possible," McVey said. "We’re already behind schedule and the weather is getting warmer."

McVey said the city is currently behind on street maintenance and repairs, which are expected to be completed by the end of March. However, he said the city is working to catch up and hopes to finish the work as soon as possible.

The city has asked for assistance from local businesses and residents to help with the cleanup effort. McVey said the city will be providing additional workers and equipment to help with the task.

"We need the community’s help to get this job done," McVey said. "We can’t do it alone and we need everyone’s help to make sure our streets are clean and well-maintained."

Let's keep working on the job we started.

An IRA helps you save money now and for your retirement years. If you open an IRA account by April 15th, you can deduct up to $2,000 from your gross income before taxes. Put $2,000 a year in your account — you’ll shelter your earnings away from taxation on your income. Plus, you pay no taxes on the funds in the interest earned until you begin receiving distributions. Make this wise decision now. Get a $2,000 tax deduction now and every year until retirement. Open an IRA account today. Your funds are insured up to $100,000 and sheltered from taxes until retirement.

Hats off to chamber and others involved in cleanup campaign

Three cheers to the Panola County Chamber of Commerce and its various service-oriented organizations for the campaign to clean up the region. This is a worthy project that deserves the support of everyone.

The chamber, along with the city of Corinth, has launched a campaign to improve the area. This effort is part of a larger initiative to make the city a cleaner and more appealing place to live.

City officials are to be commended for leading the charge against litter in the city. The effort is long overdue and is a testament to the city's commitment to improving its image.

The campaign is a great example of how local organizations can work together to make a difference. It is a project that should be supported by everyone in the community.

Tell me more about candidates

Dear Editor:

As a resident of the area, I would like to express my support for the various candidates running for office in the upcoming election. There are many good candidates running, and it is important to get to know them before making a decision.

I encourage everyone to attend the candidate forums and to ask questions to get a better understanding of their positions on the issues. This will help you make an informed decision at the ballot box.

Name on suit is not mine

Dear Editor:

I have received numerous letters and comments about the current situation in the area. One thing that is clear is that there is a lack of leadership and direction.

As someone who is interested in the future of the area, I would like to see more action taken to improve the situation. It is time for the leaders to step up and take charge.

We appreciate your coverage

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Panola County Chamber of Commerce, I would like to express our appreciation for your coverage of our recent event. We were pleased to see such a positive response from the community.

The event was a success, and we hope to make it an annual tradition. We look forward to working with you in the future.

County attorney says his position misunderstood

By Tom Miller
County Attorney Robert A. B. Miller, who is running for re-election as County assistant to the Board of County Commissioners, said that he was not "misunderstood" by those who had expressed interest in handling the county's affairs.

"I have been misunderstood by those who think I have been in charge of the county," Miller said. "I was never in charge of the county. I have been handling the county's affairs, but I have not been in charge of the county."

Miller said that he had been in contact with several people who had expressed interest in handling the county's affairs, but none of them had actually been in charge of the county.

He said that he had been handling the county's affairs for the past several years, but he had not been in charge of the county.

Phase II operation shuts down

Phase II of the operation was shut down at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 13, after it was discovered that there was a problem with the power supply.

According to Public Utilities Commission official John A. Miller, the problem was caused by a shortage of power supply.

"We had a shortage of power supply," Miller said. "We had a shortage of power supply because of the way the system was designed."

Miller said that the problem would be solved by the end of the week, and that Phase II would be back up and running by the end of the week.

Exxon letter clears way for land purchase option

Exxon has written a letter to the City of Houston, clearing the way for the purchase of land that it has optioned.

The letter was written by Exxon's Vice President of Real Estate, J. R. Smith, to the City's Director of Planning and Development, and clears the way for the purchase of land that Exxon has optioned.

The letter states that Exxon has optioned the land, and that it will use the option to purchase the land.

The letter also states that Exxon will pay the city $300,000 for the option.

Exxon is planning to build a new headquarters on the land, and the letter states that it will pay the city $300,000 for the option.

Panola names Rivers new coach of Fillies

Danny Rivers, head coach and athletic director at Panola Junior and Senior Schools, has been named the new head coach of the Fillies, the Panola High School girls basketball team. The announcement was made Monday by the school's principal, Mr. W.T. Brann, who said that Rivers, who has been an assistant coach for the past three years, is well-qualified for the job.

Rivers, a former player at Panola, has been instrumental in the development of the Fillies' program. He has been involved in every aspect of the team, from scouting to practice to game preparation. He is well-respected by his players and coaches alike, and his dedication to the sport has made him a valuable asset to the team.

The Fillies have a long history of success, having won numerous championships over the years. Rivers' appointment is seen as a natural fit for the team, and he is expected to continue the tradition of excellence.

Tardy players cause problems in opener

Ponies gain split in series with Baytown

Panola coach says it's too late now for players to play regularly and that they need to be in better shape if they want to compete. The Ponies lost both games in the series, 2-1 and 7-2.

"We work constantly to keep these players in shape, but it's too late now," said coach Joe Sanchez. "They just don't get enough practice to be ready for games." The Ponies have struggled all season with injuries and other issues, but Sanchez said they still have a chance to make the playoffs if they work hard in the remaining games.

"We have to find a way to get these players back on the field and start winning some games," Sanchez said. "We can't afford to lose any more games if we want to have a chance in the playoffs." The Ponies have a tough schedule ahead, including games against some of the top teams in the state, so Sanchez said they'll need to improve their performance if they want to have a chance to make the playoffs.

Businessmen hear reformed Klansman's testimony

The Carthage Chamber of Commerce recently invited sixteen business leaders and professionals to meet with a former Klansman at the Chamber's annual luncheon.

The former Klansman, who now goes by the name of Thomas White, delivered his testimony to the group, discussing his own experiences and reflections on his past involvement with the Klan. He highlighted the devastating impact of his actions and the importance of understanding the historical context to prevent similar events from occurring again.

White's journey towards reformation is a testament to the power of rehabilitation and personal transformation. His story serves as an inspiration to others who may be struggling with their own past actions and the consequences they have wrought.

The Chamber's annual luncheon provided an opportunity for members to engage in meaningful dialogue and learn from each other's experiences. The event was well-received, with many attendees expressing their appreciation for the opportunity to hear such an insightful presentation.

In conclusion, the Chamber's annual luncheon was a powerful reminder of the importance of learning from history and working towards a more just and equitable future. The former Klansman's testimony was a profound reminder of the capacity for change and growth, and the Kinship's commitment to fostering a community that embraces diversity and inclusivity.
