Jail plans to be discussed on Monday

By Rush Miller

Pendle County Judge Ralph Well said Friday that a decision to build a new county jail during the next two years appears to have largely moved ahead in the next week appears to have found better support than had been expected.

Judge Well said that the meeting would be open to anyone interested in hearing what experts have to say about jail needs.

Commissioners heard a presentation by a consultant specializing in jail design which said the county's current approach, in the long run, would be to construct an entirely new jail at a $500,000 per acre near the courthouse which is currently occupied in jail.

The meeting is not yet scheduled to be held in any Courthouse.

And we may schedule that meeting in March.

Just when it looked like a bad day coming on

By John Davis

In my time as a politician, there's one thing I've learned: when things are looking their worst, it's usually a sign that things are about to turn around. It's like the weather: sometimes you think it's going to be a disaster, but then the clouds clear and the sun comes out.

And that's what happened last week. I was out campaigning in a small town, and the mood was dire. There were whispers of a potential crisis, and everyone seemed on edge. But then, out of nowhere, I saw a glimmer of hope. People started to come up to me and say, "You know what? I've had enough. I'm tired of this." And before I knew it, we had a surprise victory.

It's true that the road ahead will be long and difficult, but I believe in this campaign and in our ability to turn things around. We'll face challenges, but we'll also find moments of joy and triumph.

Let's keep our heads up and our spirits high. Together, we can make a difference.
Carthage to host UIL band division competition

Carthage High School will host UIL band division competition this week. The event will feature some of the best high school bands from across Texas. The competition is divided into two categories: Class AAAA and Class AA. Participants will showcase their skills in various musical disciplines, including wind, percussion, and vocal ensembles. The competition is an opportunity for students to demonstrate their talent and for schools to compete against each other. The Carthage High School band is one of the participating groups.

New county jail studies continue

The new county jail studies continue to be a topic of discussion in the community. The studies aim to evaluate the current jail system and make recommendations for improvement. The results will be presented to the county commission for approval. Many community members have expressed their concerns about the current conditions in the jail, including overcrowding and lack of resources. The studies are expected to provide valuable insight into the challenges faced by the jail and suggest solutions for improvement.

Natural Gas Cooking

Natural Gas Cooking is a new cooking show that features recipes using natural gas. The show aims to promote the use of natural gas as a clean and affordable energy source. The episodes feature celebrity chefs using state-of-the-art gas appliances to create delicious and healthy meals. The show also highlights the benefits of natural gas, such as its efficiency and environmental impact. Viewers can look forward to a variety of recipes and techniques that showcase the versatility of natural gas in the kitchen.

USDA sets changes

The USDA has announced changes to its food assistance programs. The changes aim to streamline the process and improve the delivery of benefits to eligible households. Some of the changes include updates to the eligibility criteria and the method of calculating income. These changes are expected to affect millions of individuals who rely on food assistance programs. The USDA has emphasized the importance of ensuring that eligible individuals receive the necessary support to meet their basic needs.

Absentee vote runs high

Absence rates in today's economy have been high, with many individuals seeking to vote absentee. The election administration board has been inundated with requests for absentee ballots. Staff members have been working around the clock to process and mail the ballots. Absentee voting is an option available to all registered voters who wish to cast their ballots from home. The high number of absentee ballots highlights the importance of the democratic process and the rights of all eligible voters to participate.

GOD MADE THE ANIMALS; LET’S TRY NOT TO DESTROY THEM

On the years, we have been losing to the best country in fewer numbers of snails but also during our annual vacation. Unfortunately, this has not only affected our local residents but also the animals. The best way to help the wildlife is to save and their continued habitat. It is essential that we protect the environment and take care of the wildlife. Every year, they become extinct at the rate of one species per year, and it has been said that only three to four species can live on Earth and need our help. We need to make an effort to protect them, and it is our responsibility to ensure their survival. We need to enjoy our environment and care for the animals that live in it. This is how we can take care of the best country in few years.

Early vote record set for city ballot

President Carter

Speaking to the crowd, President Carter emphasized the importance of voting in state elections. He highlighted the significance of early voting as a way to ensure a smoother election process. Carter urged all eligible voters to participate in the upcoming city ballot. Although the issue remains undecided, Carter assured his support for the democratic process. He reminded everyone of the importance of casting their ballots in the best interest of the community.

Senator discusses education issues

Getting to the heart of the issue, Senator Smith outlined the concerns facing the education system. He discussed the need for increased funding and improvements in teaching methods. The senator advocated for a more holistic approach to education, emphasizing the importance of social and emotional well-being in addition to academic success. Smith pledged to work with local officials to implement these changes, aiming to foster a more inclusive and supportive learning environment.

Prize list grows for Egg Hunt

Egg Hunt participants

With more than sixteen thousand eggs hidden throughout the park, the Egg Hunt event proved to be a hit with participants of all ages. The prize list expanded significantly, with a grand prize of a golden egg valued at two thousand dollars. Additional prizes included a family membership to the zoo, a gift certificate to the local bakery, and a season pass to a nearby amusement park. Children and families had a fantastic time gathering eggs, with many families staying late to ensure they didn't miss out on any of the exciting offerings.

Back to School

In light of the recent school closures due to weather, the Back to School event was organized to ensure students returned to their studies by providing necessary supplies. Volunteers distributed backpacks, books, and other educational materials to students in need. The goal was to empower children with the resources they required to succeed academically. This initiative underscored the importance of early intervention in education, aiming to bridge the gap between those who have and those who don't.

Critic Survey

We present this week's survey results for your consideration:

When asked about the school closure due to weather, 65% of respondents expressed satisfaction with the decision. The survey also highlighted concerns regarding the impact of extended closures on students' learning. Interestingly, 78% of participants believed that online learning could be effectively implemented as a temporary solution. However, 82% also noted the importance of in-person interaction in maintaining student engagement.

Note: Survey conducted among 200 participants from various grades.
