Saturday run-off races costly

By Mike Miller
Pennsylvania county voters go to the polls Saturday to pick a new slate of 15 councilmen and seven councilwomen for the new term. The deadline was March 1. Voters will choose three councilmen from the Sixth Ward, two from the Seventh Ward, two from the Eighth Ward, one from the Ninth Ward, two from the Tenth Ward, two from the Eleventh Ward, one from the Twelfth Ward, two from the Thirteenth Ward, and one from the Fourteenth Ward.

There were 155 votes cast in the run-off election, and the majority of those votes were cast in the Sixth Ward, where there were 237 votes cast in favor of the councilmen. There were 203 votes cast in the Seventh Ward, 200 votes cast in the Eighth Ward, 197 votes cast in the Ninth Ward, 196 votes cast in the Tenth Ward, 193 votes cast in the Eleventh Ward, 189 votes cast in the Twelfth Ward, 187 votes cast in the Thirteenth Ward, and 186 votes cast in the Fourteenth Ward.

This would be the last election for the series of 12 councilmen who have served in the post since 1972. The councilmen are scheduled to retire from their positions on June 30, 1984.

Ceremony honors those who paid price

By Earl Cheathem

The Pontiac City Council honored the fallen service men and women who gave their lives in the war effort. The ceremony was held on Wednesday, December 21, 1983, at the Pontiac City Hall.

The ceremony began with a moment of silence for the fallen heroes, followed by a reading of their names. The names were read by someone from each of the armed services. The names were then displayed on a large screen.

Following the ceremony, a wreath was placed at the base of the flagpole.

The ceremony concluded with a touching tribute to the fallen heroes, who gave their lives for their country.

THEN . . .

IT'S TOO LATE

Why is it?

A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping on an advertised bed, in advertised pajamas. He will bathe in an advertised tub, wash with advertised soap, shave with an advertised razor, have a breakfast of advertised juice, cereal and toast (toasted in an advertised toaster), put on advertised clothes and glance at his advertised watch.

He will ride to work in an advertised car, sit at an advertised desk, smoke advertised cigars and write with an advertised pen.

Yet this man hesitates to advertise, saying that advertising does not pay.

Finally, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale.

Linsteads purchase Robbie's Food King

Purchases of the Robbie's Food King supermarket in Carthage, located at 901 E. Main, have been completed for the benefit of the local economy and the town. The former owners, the Black family, have sold the store to Linsteads, a well-known supermarket chain from East Texas. The transaction was finalized on a sunny afternoon, with both parties expressing their satisfaction and excitement for the future.

The Robbie's Food King, a long-time fixture in Carthage, has been serving the community for decades. The store was founded by the Black family, who have been active in the community for many years. The new owners, Linsteads, are known for their commitment to providing quality products and outstanding service to their customers.

The closing of the Robbie's Food King will bring a new era of growth and development to Carthage. The store will be undergoing a complete renovation and expansion, and it is expected to open soon under the new ownership.

The Black family, who have been active in the community for many years, will continue to support local projects and initiatives. The new owners, Linsteads, are also committed to supporting the local community and are looking forward to being a part of Carthage's vibrant community.

The Panola County Livestock Association held its annual meeting on Thursday, March 9, 1984, at the Panola County Fairgrounds. The meeting was attended by members and guests from across the county. Special awards were given to members who had exhibited at the fair, with top honors going toroot local livestock producers.

The meeting featured guest speaker John Dyer, an agriculture expert from Texas A&M University. Mr. Dyer discussed the importance of livestock management and the benefits of breeding high-quality livestock. He also provided updates on the latest research and developments in the livestock industry.

The meeting ended with a social hour, where members had the opportunity to network and share ideas with other livestock producers. The Panola County Livestock Association encourages all members to attend future meetings to stay informed and connected with the livestock community.

Solons eye schools, taxes, roads

In the recent legislative session, state lawmakers have been focusing on education, taxes, and transportation issues. The Panola County delegation in the Texas House of Representatives has been working closely with their counterparts in the Senate to develop a plan that will address these issues.

The plan includes increased funding for public schools, as well as a new property tax measure to help offset the cost of education. The delegation is also considering proposals to improve roads and highways in the county, as well as proposals to reduce state taxes.

The delegation has been working to ensure that the plan addresses the needs of all residents of Panola County, including rural and urban areas. They are committed to finding a balanced solution that will benefit all citizens.

Drive-in banks open Saturday

The first drive-in bank in Texas will open on Saturday, June 9. The bank, located in Houston, is designed to provide convenient banking services for customers who prefer to conduct business from the comfort of their vehicles.

The bank offers a wide range of services, including checking accounts, savings accounts, and debit cards. Customers can conduct transactions such as deposits, withdrawals, and transfers from their cars.

Drive-in banking is expected to be especially popular among busy professionals, retirees, and individuals who need quick access to their accounts.

Patrol car, truck collision hurts man

A long term employee of the county, Patridge, was driving a patrol car when he was involved in a collision with a truck. The patrol car was carrying several county employees who were on their way to a meeting.

The truck driver lost control of his vehicle, causing it to collide with the patrol car. The impact was severe, and Patridge suffered injuries requiring medical treatment.

The accident is being investigated by the county's insurance department, and the truck driver will be追究关于赔偿。
