Hollenshead may seek recount in sheriff's race

By Mac MC

Robert Hollenshead, Jr., the sheriff that is seeking his third term, is scheduled to announce his candidacy this weekend. Polls show that the incumbent faces a tough battle for re-election, and as a result, Hollenshead is considering whether to seek a recount of the votes cast in the primary election.

"I am still deciding whether to seek a recount," Hollenshead said. "The results are very close, and I want to make sure that every vote is counted accurately."

The sheriff, who is currently in his third term, has served the county for over 20 years. During his tenure, Hollenshead has been known for his dedication to public safety and his commitment to the community. However, he faces stiff competition from several challengers, including several former law enforcement officers who have promised to bring fresh ideas and a new perspective.

If Hollenshead decides to seek a recount, it would be the first time in recent history that a sheriff in the county has done so. The decision is expected to have significant implications for the upcoming election, as the results will determine who will be in charge of law enforcement in the county for the next four years.

"I am considering my options, and I will make a final decision soon," Hollenshead said. "I want to make sure that the people of the county have a voice in what happens in their government."

Solons eye schools, taxes, roads

By John Driscoll

As the legislative session winds down, lawmakers are focusing on school finance, taxes, and roads. Some solons are pushing for changes in the current system, while others are looking to maintain the status quo.

One of the key issues is school finance. Lawmakers are considering proposed changes to the current system, which is based on a formula that takes into account a school district's property value. Some solons are pushing for a redistribution of funding, while others are concerned about the impact on local economies.

Another issue is taxes. The state has a system of sales and property taxes, which some lawmakers argue are too high. Others believe that the current system is fair and should remain in place.

The final issue is roads. Lawmakers are considering proposed changes to the current system, which is based on a mix of federal, state, and local funding. Some solons are pushing for more funding, while others are concerned about the impact on local budgets.

The legislative session is set to end next week, and lawmakers will have to make decisions on these and other issues. It promises to be a busy time for the solons, as they work to balance the needs of their constituents with the budget constraints of the state.

Drive-in banks open Saturday

The first drive-in bank in the county is scheduled to open on Saturday. Located on the outskirts of the city, the bank will offer a range of services to customers, including convenience and security.

The bank is owned by a local businessman, who has invested heavily in the project. "We believe that this is a great opportunity to serve the community," he said. "We want to make banking accessible to everyone, regardless of where they live."

Local officers assist in chase for hardluck Shreveport car thief

Police are still searching for the man who stole a car from a children's hospital in Shreveport earlier this month. The thief was caught on camera as he drove off in a white sedan, leaving behind a trail of debris and destruction.

The search continues...

Haley plays key role

Haley, a 12-year-old schoolgirl, played a vital role in the investigation. She noticed the car parked outside the hospital and reported it to the police.

Beckville bows in quarter-finals, 14-4

IN SUMMAR

Beckville played long enough that the clutch of Texas high school baseball's northernmost region ended with a win for the Bobcats. The game was played Monday in Paducah, Texas, where rain delayed the start by eight hours. The final score was 14-4 in favor of Eastland County.

Gideon may go pro

Gideon, Texas, is one of the smallest towns in the United States. However, its baseball team impresses everyone with its talent and determination. This year, the team has made it to the semi-finals of the state tournament and is now being considered for a pro baseball team. The players are training hard to prepare for the final games and the possibility of being drafted.
