Editorial: PCCA Rodeo deserves support

The Tenth annual Panola County Exposition Association Rodeo is set for June 17-18, in the old Cotton Bowl Arena. All proceeds from ticket sales go to the band, with the proceeds from concessions going to the March Band. The band will use the funds to purchase new instruments and scholarships for band members. The Rodeo is an important event for the community, providing a source of income for the band and an opportunity for local businesses to support a good cause.

Making impressions takes work

T-Wheeler Commenorating bomb's birthday inappropriate

It's important to note that this is not a birthday celebration, but rather a commemoration of the tragic event. The event is not meant to glorify the bombings, but rather to remember the loss of life and the devastation caused. This is an opportunity to honor the victims and those affected by the bombings, not to celebrate.

Rodeo seeks local entrants

The Panola County Exposition Association is seeking rodeo competitors for the upcoming event. Entrants can expect to receive a small cash prize, and there will be opportunities for local young people to compete. The deadline for entries is June 15, with the event taking place on June 17-18. For more information, contact the association at 903-634-5555.

Guest editorial: How to waste $100 billion

Editor's Note: The following viewpoint was submitted by the City of Carthage's Department of Transportation.

The City of Carthage has a number of projects in the works, all of which will require a significant amount of funding. These projects include an expansion of the city's water treatment plant, construction of a new city hall, and the installation of new streetlights throughout the city. The total cost of these projects is estimated to be $100 billion. However, the city is also considering a number of other projects that would require even more funding. For example, the city is considering expanding the city's airport, which would cost an additional $50 billion. These projects would not only increase the city's debt but also result in a significant increase in government spending. It is important that the city carefully consider the benefits of these projects before proceeding.

CISD to lose $1.6 million in funds

The CISD school board has approved a $1.6 million budget cut for the current school year. This is due to decreased enrollment and a decrease in state funding. The district is also facing increased costs due to inflation and other factors. The board has decided to make cuts in all areas, including减少了教学资源 and staff reductions. The impacted students will receive the least affected by these changes.

Drought conditions create fire dangers

As the drought conditions continue, the risk of wildfires increases. Residents are encouraged to take precautions to prevent fires, such as clearing dry brush and grass from around their properties. The fire department is also urging people to be careful with open flames and to report any signs of fire hazards.

THEN...
IT'S TOO LATE

Why is it?

A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping on an advertised bed, in advertised pajamas. He will bathe in an advertised tub, wash with advertised soap, shave with an advertised razor, have a breakfast of advertised juice, cereal and toast (toasted in an advertised toaster), put on advertised clothes and glance at his advertised watch.

He will ride to work in an advertised car, sit at an advertised desk, smoke advertised cigars and write with an advertised pen.

Yet this man hesitates to advertise, saying that advertising does not pay.

Finally, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
CITIES SERVICE OIL AND GAS CORPORATION Carthage Field Gas Gathering System Panola County

It has come to Cities Service Oil and Gas Corporation's attention, that some residences are receiving natural gas through unauthorized "hacking" into the new natural gas gathering pipeline serving the Panola Processing Plant. This gathering system is not designed for safe use by residential tenants. The gas is extremely hazardous for residential use and may be subject to explosion and/or fire due to possible loss of pressure and possible contamination with hazardous and poisonous compounds.

Cities Service Oil and Gas Corporation will not accept liability for personal injury or death or damage to property resulting from any unauthorized use of the natural gas. For the safety of all users, unauthorized use and tampering with the system is a violation of the law. Cities Service Oil and Gas Corporation will not tolerate tampering with the gathering system and will work to locate unauthorized connections. Unauthorized connections will be shut off and the gas supply to the residence will be disconnected. Wherever unauthorized connections are found, the gas to the residence will be cut off, and any person violating the law will be reported to the proper authorities.

Cities Service Oil and Gas Corporation believes that any unauthorized use of the natural gas is not only illegal, but also extremely hazardous to the public. To protect the health and safety of the people, Cities Service Oil and Gas Corporation requests that all unauthorized users desist immediately.

CISD board approves bids

The CISD board of trustees approved a budget for the upcoming school year at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The current budget includes $341 million in bond, $396 million in revenue, and $48 million in reserves. The budget is for the 2016-2017 school year and includes $24 million in capital projects and $45 million in non-capital projects.

"We are excited to be in a position to approve a budget that will allow us to provide the best possible education for our students," said CISD Superintendent Scott Muri. "This budget includes funding for new programs, technology upgrades, and maintenance and repairs on our schools."

Organisms found in water supply

By Patsi Gorman

Local officials are facing challenges to their water supply with the discovery of a new organism. The organism, identified as a type of bacteria, was found in the city's water treatment plant. The city has been monitoring the water quality for years, but this is the first time such an organism has been detected.

The bacteria were found after routine testing revealed higher-than-normal levels of bacteria. The city's water treatment plant was immediately shut down for further investigation.

The bacteria are believed to be the cause of a series of health complaints in the city. Residents have been reporting symptoms such as nausea, diarrhea, and fever, and some have been diagnosed with gastrointestinal infections.

The city has been working with state health officials to determine the extent of the contamination. The bacteria is believed to have entered the water supply from a nearby industrial facility, which has been identified as the source of the contamination.

The city has also been working with state and federal authorities to ensure the safety of the water supply. The city has been providing bottled water to affected residents and is working to clean up the industrial facility.

The city is currently under a boil water advisory, and residents are advised to boil their water before drinking it.

Water rationing a possibility

By Patsi Gorman

The city is considering water rationing due to a decrease in water supply. The city's water reserves have been depleted due to increased demand and decreased rainfall.

The city is currently using water from the reservoir, but it is expected to run out within the next few weeks. The city has been considering alternative sources of water, but it is unlikely that they will be sufficient to meet the city's needs.

The city is also considering implementing water rationing measures, such as reducing water usage in public spaces and implementing water usage restrictions for residents.

City eyes plan to 'pay as you go'

By Patsi Gorman

The city is considering a plan to "pay as you go," which would allow residents to pay for their water usage directly. The city currently charges a flat rate for water usage, but residents have been expressing concern about the high cost of water.

The city is considering a plan to allow residents to pay for their water usage based on their actual usage. This would allow residents to save money if they reduce their water usage.

The city has been working with residents to encourage them to reduce their water usage. The city has been offering tips and resources to help residents save water, and residents have been responding positively.
