Teacher pay raises could hit 3% percent

Panola County employees were upset last week when they were presented with the proposed 1984-85 salary schedule which was released by the Panola County School District. The salary increase will be spread out over the district’s 13 salary levels and will total approximately $1.500 for the year. The salary schedule, which also includes other benefits such as health insurance, will be voted on by the school board in the near future.

State capital highlights

By Lloyd Williams

AUSTIN - Like it or not, Texas lawmakers are about to face another meeting of the year. And, like it or not, much of the session will revolve around the state's continued efforts to combat crime.

The state capital is bracing for the return of the legislature, which will convene on Jan. 10. Lawmakers will begin work on the budget and other issues, and will be eager to address some of the issues they faced in the final days of the 1993 session.

The legislature is expected to consider a number of bills that would affect the state's criminal justice system. These include measures that would strengthen the penalties for certain crimes, such as those involving drug use and possession. The legislature may also consider changes to the state's juvenile justice system, which has been under scrutiny for several years.

Meanwhile, the legislature is expected to continue its efforts to improve the state's public education system. Lawmakers are expected to consider legislation that would increase funding for education, as well as measures that would improve the quality of instruction in the state's schools.

(Office of the Governor.

I believe that this year's legislature will be working on a number of issues that are important to the state's future. I am confident that the lawmakers will be able to pass legislation that will help to address some of the challenges facing the state.

Not only will the legislature be working on important issues, but it will also be working to improve the state's government. I believe that the lawmakers will be able to pass legislation that will help to increase the transparency and accountability of the state's government. I am confident that the legislature will be able to pass legislation that will help to improve the state's government and make it more responsive to the needs of the people.

Another caller to the same show puzzles the governor, who can't believe that the legislature can possibly pass legislation that would help to address the state's problems. He wonders how the legislature can possibly pass legislation that would help to address the state's problems.

His comments are met with a chorus of agreement from the other callers, who believe that the legislature can't possibly pass legislation that would help to address the state's problems.

For PJC forestry student

Nature trail provides training

By PatE. Frloske

A student with thought. The Panola College Forestry Program,

under the direction of Dr. Larry

Reel, offers students and educators an opportunity to learn about the wildlife and plants of the East Texas region.

The program is designed to provide training for students wishing to pursue careers in forestry, wildlife management, and related fields.

The program includes courses

in wildlife biology, ecology,

conservation, and timber management.

Throughout the program, students are encouraged to observe and identify the many species of plants and animals

found in the area.

The program also provides opportunities for hands-on learning through field trips and research projects.
