Attend The Church Of Your Choice

We are all occasionally tempted to reinforce the images, a normal reaction in our own experiences as well as the human stories of the times. People, animals, the drug trade, and so on. However, these are different and there are still a lot of good people around, including us. We all want our way of life to be protected and to enjoy the benefits of their hard work. The more ignorant and isolationist we become, the more we need to be aware of the world and to be sensitive to the needs of others. We must be willing to help prevent a similar crime from happening again.

Bullock quips 'Bingo' in crackdown attempt

By Elizabeth Williams

E.C. come, E.C. go, a light breeze, a cool day, and a good view. That's what Bill Bullock, the new governor of Texas, was saying as he walked across the most recent campaign trail.

"I'm excited about the future," Bullock remarked. "We have a lot to look forward to." Bullock was referring to the recent passage of the school finance reform bill, which he had pushed through the legislature with great difficulty.

The bill, which will funnel more money into the classroom, was not without its detractors. Some argued that it would lead to higher taxes, while others claimed it would not go far enough.

"We've made a good start," Bullock said, "but we have to keep pushing forward." Bullock's optimism was in stark contrast to the gloom that had hung over the state for the past few years.

In the meantime, Bullock continued his campaign, speaking to groups of voters all over the state. His message was clear: change is coming, and he's the one to lead the way.

Two芩Negatives mounted on the side of the road inut.

"Two youngsters were seen took the car and now are in custody," the officer said.

The two were arrested after the officer spotted them running into a nearby park with the car.

"They were not armed," the officer added. "They seemed to be under the influence of something." The officer did not specify what.

The car was found abandoned a few blocks away. The officer said he believed it was the same car that had been reported stolen.

"We're looking into it," the officer said. "We're hoping to get more information from the public."

Tourist development meeting set

The annual meeting of the Panola County Tourism Development Committee is scheduled for this Saturday, June 20, at the Panola Country Club, starting at 9:00 AM. Local and regional tourism leaders are expected to attend to discuss strategies and initiatives to promote tourism in the area.

The committee, led by Chairperson, Mr. John Smith, is responsible for developing and implementing plans to attract visitors to Panola County. Last year, the committee focused on improving local trails and creating a new farmers market.

"We're looking forward to this year's meeting," said Smith. "Our goal is to continue to grow tourism in our area and create a positive impact on the local economy."
