A LOOK AT IMPORTANT ISSUES FACING PANOLA COUNTY TODAY

Sunday, September 30, 1990
Panola County Post

Editorial:

Animal control is up to us

The Panola County Animal Control Center has been established to provide a humane and efficient way to deal with the issue of stray dogs and cats. The center, located at 123 S. Main St., offers several services to the community.

The center provides a safe and temporary shelter for stray animals, ensuring their basic needs are met. This includes food, water, and medical care. Animals are also spayed or neutered to prevent overpopulation.

Furthermore, the center offers adoption services, allowing individuals to adopt a pet that otherwise might have been euthanized. This not only reduces the number of animals in shelters but also provides homes for pets that need a loving environment.

The center also accepts donations, which help in the ongoing maintenance and care of the facility. Financial contributions support the cost of food, veterinary care, and other necessary expenses.

Letters to the editor:

Dear Editor,

I was pleased to read about the new animal control center in the Panola County Post. It is wonderful to see the community coming together to address this important issue.

I would like to suggest that the center could also consider offering educational programs about pet Ownership. Many people may not realize the responsibilities and costs associated with owning a pet.

Sincerely,
[Name]

Area United Way campaign plans set

The Panola County United Way has set its goals for the upcoming campaign season. The campaign, which raises funds for various community service organizations, has set a target of $250,000 for this year.

Managing director William Taylor said, "We are excited about the potential for this year's campaign. With the continued support of our community, we believe we can exceed our goal and make a significant impact in the lives of local residents.

The campaign will run from October 1 to December 31, and interested individuals and organizations can contact the United Way office at 123 Main St. to learn more about how they can participate.

Hospital bookkeeper relieved of duties

Heather Williams, the bookkeeper at the Panola County Hospital, was relieved of her duties after an investigation revealed she had embezzled funds from the hospital. The investigation, which was conducted by the hospital's accounting department, showed that Williams had used her position to transfer funds to a personal account.

The hospital has filed charges against Williams, and she is currently awaiting trial. The hospital has also implemented new security measures to prevent such incidents in the future.
What is rabies: Disease, threats detailed

By Neil Chappell

Pursuing a ferocious, small mammal by any name, usually results in little more than a scratch. The reason: It’s often those tiny, almost-invisible teeth that harbor the rabies virus and are capable of infecting the victim. The challenge is that the disease is almost always fatal if not caught and treated early.

Rabbits, foxes, skunks, raccoons, bats, and even dogs can carry the virus, which is spread by the saliva of an infected animal. When the virus enters the body through a scratch on the skin, it travels to the brain, where it multiplies rapidly and destroys brain cells.

Dr. Richard D. Fawcett, Texas Department of Health, says the disease is most common in rural areas, where skunks, raccoons, and bats are common. In 1989, a human case was reported in rural Panola County. The infection was contracted by a young woman who was scratched by a bat while she was sleeping.

Dr. Fawcett said most people think rabies is a disease that affects only dogs. However, there are cases of rabies in humans in the United States each year. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports that there were 9 cases of rabies in humans in the United States in 2019.

In the past, the disease has been transmitted to humans through the bite of an infected animal, but it can also be transmitted through the bite of an uninfected animal, such as a dog, that has been scratched by an infected animal.

Early signs of rabies include fever, aching muscles, and a general feeling of illness. Later signs include hallucinations, agitation, and confusion. If untreated, rabies can be fatal.

The ultimate of vacations -- take a cruise

Shipboard memories last a lifetime

Panola People

A LOOK AT PERSONALITIES, HERITAGE AND LIFESTYLES IN OUR COMMUNITY

The story is a typical one of a first-time cruiser. A couple who have never been on a cruise before, embark on a journey that will last several weeks. They are excited and nervous at the same time. The ship is a large vessel, with multiple decks and a variety of amenities. The couple is staying in a stateroom with a balcony that overlooks the ocean.

The first day is spent in transit. The crew is busy setting up the ship for the day. The couple is introduced to the staff and is shown around the ship. They have dinner in the main dining room and attend a show in the theater.

The weather is perfect, with blue skies and warm temperatures. The couple spends much of the day on the deck, enjoying the sun and the ocean view. They participate in some of the activities offered, such as swimming in the pool or playing tennis on the court.

The following days are spent exploring the ports of call. The couple takes tours of the cities and visits museums and historic sites. They learn about the local culture and history.

The food onboard is excellent, with a variety of options to choose from. The couple enjoys trying new cuisines and trying different dishes.

The final day is spent in transit back to the home port. The couple is sad to leave, but also excited to return home and share their experiences with friends and family.

Overall, the cruise was an unforgettable experience that they will cherish for years to come.

The couple was so much impressed by the service, amenities, and entertainment that they have already booked another cruise for next year.

Photos from the cruise:

- Arriving at the port of call
- Exploring the city
- Enjoying a night out
- Farewell to the crew

The couple is counting down the days until their next cruise.
