Both sides got bad calls by Barry's zebras

They'd sooner cry than bear the tie

It was one of the worst jobs of officiating at a major college game I've ever seen, (I certainly agree, but Oklahoma's defending the Southeastern will be the same story. They may both relish the blowout and the 17-0 score. The scoring has been so small and the playing time so short that it's hard to believe there will be any real excitement in the game. No matter who wins, the game will be a tie.

The Oklahoma defense was very good, but they needed a better night. They allowed the Sooners to score on four of their first five possessions, coming through for a touchdown, and they were very good on the last two, stopping the Sooners on both drives. Oklahoma's defense was much better in the second half, but they allowed the Sooners to score on one of their last two possessions.

Texas Renaissance Festival creates unique time warp

As the activities of Patrick I conclude this weekend, the folks in the Panola County Post would like to congratulate the people behind the Texas Renaissance Festival for their hard work and dedication. The festival offers a unique opportunity for people of all ages to step back in time and experience life as it was in the Middle Ages.

Walking through the grounds, visitors can see a variety of activities and performances that bring the history of the period to life. From jousting to storytelling, there's something for everyone.

One of the most popular activities is the jousting tournament. The jousting arena is set up with a large wooden palisade, and the knights and ladies are dressed in medieval garb. The sound of horses galloping and the clanking of armor can be heard throughout the area.

The festival also offers a variety of food options, from roasted chestnuts to medieval-style pies. These foods are often made using traditional recipes and cooking methods, adding to the authenticity of the experience.

The Texas Renaissance Festival is open from 11:00 am to 7:00 pm on weekends, and admission is $20 per person. The festival runs from October 21st to November 5th, so there's still plenty of time to visit.

In addition to the jousting and food, there are also numerous entertainment options available, including live music, games, and activities for children.

Overall, the Texas Renaissance Festival is a unique and entertaining experience that provides a glimpse into the past. Whether you're a history buff or just looking for a fun day out, this festival is definitely worth a visit.

Harris Chapel ladies attend the World Fair

By Mrs. Danny B. Fendley

The Harris Chapel ladies attended the World Fair. The ladies were headed for the fair Friday morning, May 22nd. As we entered the fairgrounds we were greeted by a line of people waiting to buy tickets. We had a very enjoyable day at the fair, seeing all the sights and trying some of the delicious food. We were able to see many of the exhibits, including the Jumbotron and the Space Needle. We also enjoyed watching the live entertainment and playing some of the games. We all had a great time and we are looking forward to going back again!

Potlatch 5' draws 5,000 despite downpour

The crowd was no match for the steady downpour of rain that greeted them Saturday night at the Potlatch 5th Annual Fall Festival. With the rain pouring down so heavily that it created a nearly constant fog, the crowd of over 5,000 people were determined to make the best of the situation.

Despite the rain, the event went on as planned, with live music, food, and a variety of other activities. Attendees were seen making the most of the situation, taking cover under trees and raincoats to stay dry.

One of the highlights of the evening was the performance by local band 'The Raindrops,' who played a setlist packed with their hit songs.

The event was a huge success, with attendees leaving with smiles and memories of a great night despite the weather.
