Mondale tax promise startling comment

By Alice Miller

When the presidential candidates began addressing the issue of the growing national deficit, the President allowed his predecessor to have his head cut off in a political chess match. Now, in his third term, Mondale hasrisen to the challenge. He has made the issue of reducing taxes one of his top priorities. His tax proposal, which is expected to cost more than $200 billion over the next five years, is likely to have a significant impact on the budget. Mondale's plan, which aims to lower taxes for the middle class while raising taxes for the wealthy, has been met with mixed reactions from political analysts.
Panola County not included
Area counties designated in labor surplus study
Panola County is included in the labor surplus study of 16 counties in East Texas by the works director of Harris County, the labor stabilization committee of the United States Department of Labor and the State Director of Labor. The labor surplus designations for some of high wage areas in Panola County are eligible for preference to help place a portion of the government's procurement contracts in the specified counties. The initial protections are found in the works director's report. All counties have a varying status of areas not in the labor surplus study, until changes are made according to the surplus areas.
