State witnesses vast voter registration war

By Carol Hudson

The Texas secretary of state is considering a proposal to make it a crime to illegally assist another person in registering to vote.

The secretary of state is under pressure to take action to curb voting fraud, which he said has been a problem for years.

The proposal, which is being considered by the state, would make it a felony to help someone register to vote if that person is not a citizen.

The proposal would also add additional requirements to the voter registration process, including a requirement that voters provide proof of citizenship.

The proposal is being considered by the state legislature, which is currently in session.

Letters to the Editor:

Texas ape helps save heart patient Baby Fae

By Allan Miller

Just about the same time you think the electronic age is going to make everything easier, you turn on the radio or television and there's a story about yet another wrinkle in the world of technology.

In the case of Texas A&M University, it's a story about a new device that could save the life of a heart patient.

The device, called the Texas Heart Aid System, is a device that can be implanted in the heart of a patient who is suffering from a lack of blood flow to the heart.

It works by detecting the problem and then automatically releasing a drug to the patient's bloodstream.

The device was developed by a team of researchers at Texas A&M University, who say it could save the lives of thousands of people who suffer from heart disease.

The device is currently being tested on humans, and the researchers hope to have it available for use within the next few years.

The device could be a game-changer in the world of heart disease, and it's a reminder that technology can be used to save lives.

Bearcats want to spoil Tatum title bid

Beckville victory won’t a season make

ROCKS — Ed Thomas has heard it, but there’s no way he’s going to let Tatum’s strong preseason keep him from making his mind known about the rivalry and hope it will continue his team to reach new heights this year, but not in the way they’ve planned.

"We’ve got a long way to go before we can consider ourselves a team," Beckville coach Steve Vickers said. "But we’re working hard to get there."

Vickers said the Bearcats have won 10 games in a row, but they haven’t been able to capitalize on their chances this year.

"We’ve had some opportunities," Vickers said. "But we haven’t been able to take advantage of them."

Other teams have been able to take advantage of Beckville’s mistakes, but the Bearcats haven’t been able to capitalize on their opportunities.

"We’ve had some opportunities," Vickers said. "But we haven’t been able to take advantage of them."
