Christmas like....when you were growing up

By Shirley Anderson

For many of us, Christmas in Montgomery County is a time of sharing, giving, and celebrating the joy of the season. It's a time when we gather with family and friends to reminisce about the Christmas traditions of years past.

Christmas was a magical time for us when we were growing up. The season was filled with excitement, anticipation, and the joy of giving. Family gathered together to open presents, sing carols, and enjoy the festive decorations that transformed our homes into winter wonderlands.

Many of the traditions we cherish today are rooted in the Christmas celebrations of years gone by. From the exchange of gifts to the preparation of special meals, these traditions have been passed down from generation to generation, creating a sense of continuity and connection.

Christmas is a time for reflection, for remembering the true meaning of the holiday. It's a time to appreciate the simple joys of life and the love and support of our loved ones. As we celebrate this special season, let's take a moment to savor the memories of Christmas past and look forward to creating new memories with those we love.

The magic of Christmas is all around us, waiting to be discovered. May the spirit of the season fill your heart with joy and peace. Merry Christmas to you and your loved ones!
1200 Die from injuries

Toy accidents exceed 120,000

"When children play, they often find joy in discovery and exploration. As they learn and grow, they develop a sense of curiosity that helps them understand the world around them. However, when toys become the source of injury, it is a serious matter that requires attention. It is estimated that 1200 children die annually from toy-related accidents. These accidents often involve small parts that can cause choking, sharp edges that can cut, and mechanical malfunctions that can lead to serious injuries. To prevent these incidents, it is important to educate children and their caregivers about the dangers of toys and to ensure that toys are properly supervised and used safely."

THE CHRISTMAS TREE
How did it all begin? No one really knows, though the custom of having Christmas trees certainly comes from Germany. At one time, Adam and Eve Day was celebrated on December 24. They decorated a tree, known as the Paradise Tree, with apples and fruit. And they acted the story of the Garden of Eden and how, in the beginning, the world was apostate. A legend that the Christmas tree with St. Boniface of Credton, who left England to bring the good news about Jesus to the tribes of Germany. One dark night he and his monks came upon a group of villagers prepping to sacrifice a boy to their god, Odin. They had tied him to an oak tree. Boniface set the boy free and chopped the oak tree down. He pointed instead to an evergreen tree and his followers stepped forward and put their candles on its branches. By its light, the people listened. As Boniface told them of a loving God who had brought life and light to the world through his son. Some say it was Martin Luther, the great sixteenth-century reformer, who first brought the lighted Christmas tree indoors. As he walked through the forest one night he looked up to see the stars shining through the branches. It was so beautiful he went home to tell his children how the lighted tree was like a picture of Jesus, who left the starry heavens to bring light to earth.

Dragons rally to win Carthage defeated in three overtimes

By Rob Goss

MACGEOCHEN—A 50-yard touchdown pass in the third overtime gave Carthage a 19-16 victory over the Dragons, who had scored 13 straight points to take the lead in the game after the first overtime period.

Carthage coach Bob Weakley said his team played well throughout the game, but the Bulldogs came back in the final seconds to tie the game at 16-16. The Bulldogs then scored two touchdowns and kicked the game-winning extra point to win the championship.

"We had a great game plan going in, but we just couldn't execute it on the field," said Weakley.

The Bulldogs advanced to the state playoffs after winning the district championship.
