Federal spending: The mother of all political arrogance

February 6, 1983

An Editorial

There are very few topics of more intense and constant public concern than that of Federal spending. As the Federal budget grows to astronomical proportions, so does the concern of the American public. The question of whether or not we are spending too much and what the effects of such spending might be becomes a matter of national debate.

Unfortunately, the debate often becomes more heated than informed. The public is frequently presented with a simplistic view of the budgetary process, which often glosses over the complexities and realities of how government works. The result is a misperception of the role of Federal spending, and an oversimplification of the issues surrounding it.

The Federal budget is not just a collection of numbers and figures. It is the result of a complex interplay of politics, economics, and social priorities. The budget reflects the values and goals of the society it serves, and it is a reflection of the choices we make as a nation.

We are being asked to make sacrifices, and the question is whether or not those sacrifices are justified. Federal spending is not just about numbers; it is about the future of our country. It is about the health care of our citizens, the education of our children, the protection of our environment, and the security of our nation.

As we continue to grapple with these issues, it is important to remember that Federal spending is a tool for shaping the future. It is a tool that we can use to invest in our country and to ensure that it is a better place for future generations.

The challenge is to use this tool wisely, to make decisions that are informed and well thought out. The challenge is to balance the competing demands of the budget with the needs and priorities of our society.

We must not allow the debate to become solely about the size of the budget. Instead, we must focus on the purpose and impact of Federal spending. Only then can we truly understand the importance of this issue and work towards solutions that are equitable and effective.

The American public has a right to demand transparency and accountability from its government. We have a right to expect that our tax dollars are being spent wisely. We have a right to demand that our elected officials are making informed decisions, and that they are held accountable for the choices they make.

As we move forward, let us remember that Federal spending is about more than numbers. It is about the future of our country, and the choices we make today will shape that future for generations to come.
Animal control report

Four dogs and 18 cats were removed from the City Animal Shelter. Two of the dogs and two of the cats were chipped by the City Animal Shelter. The shelter also received a call regarding a dog that may be the same dog that was removed earlier. This dog was removed after being hit by a vehicle. After checking the shelter, the animal control officer found the dog and took it to the shelter. The shelter has two additional dogs and three additional cats that may be removed.

Cites commitment to state budget crisis

Howard will not seek office

State Sen. Sid Howard (D-Huntsville) said he will not seek re-election to the Texas Senate when his term expires this year.

"I'm not going to seek re-election," Howard said. "I believe the state is in serious trouble and unless there is a fundamental change in the thinking, the problems will continue to grow." Howard said he is not ruling out a run for governor in 1986.

Fourth hospital board member will resign

With the appointment of a new member of the hospital board last week, a third member of the current board will soon be up for re-election.

Dr. Grady Wilson, a long-time board member, said he will not seek re-election next year.

"I'm not sure what the future holds," Wilson said. "I believe the hospital needs new leadership, and I don't want to be part of the old leadership." Wilson has served on the hospital board for 15 years.

Tax bill comes to nine cents

A new state tax bill, which will go into effect on July 1, will raise the property tax rate in Panola County by nine cents.

The rate will increase from 44.5 cents per $100 of assessed value to 53.5 cents per $100 of assessed value.

Return Board asks compromise

Return Board asks for the approval of a new tax bill which was defeated at the last meeting of the Panola County Board of Commissioners.

"We need a new tax bill," Board Chairman Robert Jones said. "The county has a huge deficit, and we need to raise revenue to meet our obligations." The board has been meeting for over three months to try to come up with a new tax bill.

Budget surplus aids hospital, jail

A budget surplus has been used to aid the county hospital and jail.

The county has received a $500,000 surplus, which has been used to pay off some of the hospital's debts.

The surplus has also been used to pay for repairs to the jail.

Brucellosis topic of meeting

A meeting on brucellosis was held in Carthage.

Dr. John Hall, a veterinarian from Brownsville, spoke about the disease and how it can be treated.

"Brucellosis is a disease that can be treated with antibiotics," Dr. Hall said.

Five sign intent for CISD election

Five parents have signed a petition to run for positions on the CISD board.

The parents are: Mary Johnson, John Smith, Jane Doe, JohnDoes and Mary Johnson.

The parents said they are running for the board to improve the school system.

They said they are running because they want to see more parents involved in the decision-making process.

"We want to see more parents involved in the decision-making process," Johnson said.

There has been no ruling on the petition yet.

The candidates must file their petitions by the end of the school year.

They will then be placed on the ballot for the election.

The election will be held in May.
