Hutchens' body identified

The investigation is being proounced by Deputy Dennis Morris and Deputy Duane. But Hoard informed that there has been no change in the identification of the body. The body was identified as John P. Hutchens, age 22, of Mabank. Hutchens was last seen on April 10, 1979, at his home. The body was found on May 10, 1979, in a field near his home. The cause of death is thought to be a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Hutchens had been a suspect in the murder of his friend, Brian Coleman, who was found shot dead on April 14, 1979. Hutchens was arrested and charged with the murder of Coleman, but was later released on bail. The investigation is continuing.

Commissioner details policy

The commissioners have announced a new policy to regulate the use of private property in the county. The policy requires all private property owners to obtain a permit from the county before using the property for any purpose. The permits will be issued by the county's planning department and will be valid for one year. The policy is intended to prevent misuse of public resources and to ensure that private property is used in a responsible manner. The commissioners believe that the policy is necessary to protect the interests of the taxpayers.

Midwives must be identified annually

There's probably not a day go-by that at least one midwife is born somewhere in this state. It is estimated that there are over 1,000 midwives in Oregon, and that number is growing every year. Midwives are licensed practitioners who provide care to women during pregnancy, birth, and postpartum. They are trained to assist in the delivery of babies in a variety of settings, including homebirths. Midwives are important members of the healthcare community and play a vital role in providing quality care to women.

Presidents' Day

We will be closed Monday, February 18, in observance of Presidents' Day.

Future Farmers of America: Youth worth the support

The Future Farmers of America (FFA) offers the opportunity to any student in a local agricultural program or vocational agriculture to participate in a national program. This is a great opportunity for any student who is interested in the agricultural industry.

The FFA offers various opportunities for students to develop leadership skills, gain practical experience, and connect with others who share a similar interest in agriculture. It is an excellent way for students to prepare for a career in agriculture or related fields.

The FFA provides various benefits, including opportunities to compete in skills contests, participate in community service projects, and attend national conventions. It also offers scholarships and financial assistance for students pursuing agricultural education.

The FFA is an excellent way for students to develop leadership skills, gain practical experience, and connect with others who share a similar interest in agriculture. It is an excellent way for students to prepare for a career in agriculture or related fields.

Vocational agriculture is in trouble without public help Vocational agriculture is a critical component of education in many schools across the country. However, it is facing challenges, including budget cuts and lack of funding.

Without the support of the public, vocational agriculture programs may struggle to provide students with the skills they need to succeed in the workforce. It is important for the public to recognize the importance of vocational agriculture and support the programs that are educating the next generation of farmers and agribusiness professionals.

There are many ways for the public to support vocational agriculture programs, including donating to schools or organizations that support agricultural education and advocating for increased funding for these programs.

No. 5 gets 26th win

Ponies whip Dogs, near championship

By TED LUCAS

CORNELIAS — Adrian Ponies’ 5th win in 7 games of Region 3A-1 play last weekend carried them to the top of the league standings. The Ponies beat Region 3A-1 #2 Smyrna 76-69 at home on Thursday night. This win helped the Ponies remain in the lead in the league standings. The Ponies’ defense was key in their win as they held Smyrna to only 69 points. Adrian has now won 5 straight games and is the top seed in the league.
