Confused freshmen vote against own bill

Texas Association of Retired Teachers Robert H. Martinson of Humble said that the effects of the capital increase may be seen in the tax breaks on long-term capital gains, a change that will be passed on to the Texas taxpayers.

Martinson said that the capital increase will likely mean higher property taxes for Texas taxpayers.

Realtors argue that the change would increase in property values, which, in turn, would mean higher property taxes.

Landowner aids ducks

"Landowners who take steps to conserve natural cover and provide habitat for waterfowl have the best chance of attracting and keeping these birds," said Dwight Robinson, area biologist for the Wildlife and Fisheries Department.

Robinson, who works with the department's waterfowl program, said that many landowners are interested in providing habitat for waterfowl, but they don't know how to start.

Robinson said that the best way to attract waterfowl is to provide food, cover, and water. Food can be provided by planting native grasses and shrubs, while cover can be provided by planting trees and shrubs.

Water can be provided by digging ponds or creating lakes, but Robinson said that it's important to make sure that the water is not too deep for the birds to dive into.

Robinson also said that it's important to keep the water clean and free of chemicals.

"It's important to keep the water clean and free of chemicals," said Robinson. "Waterfowl are very sensitive to chemicals and other pollutants."
