Election year changing faces at legislature

By Loyd Williams

As legislators in Austin, Texas, and the Congress in Washington, D.C., struggle to pass the country’s fiscal priorities, the tension in the Texas Capitol between Governor Ann Richards and the state House of Representatives led to a three-week legislative session. With the state budget in limbo, and the House and Senate at odds, the political climate is tense.

Some legislative measures have passed, including a bill to restrict the use of the death penalty and another to increase funding for public education. However, the biggest issue remains the state budget, which has yet to be finalized.

Texas’ elected officials seeking other elected offices

As legislative candidates seek to replace retiring state House members, the political climate is heated. The field includes several candidates with strong political backgrounds, including former state legislators and incumbent state representatives.

The race for the 14th Congress District is particularly hot, with incumbent Rep. Ron Paul facing a strong challenge from former state Sen. Paul Broun. Other races include the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th Congress Districts, where incumbent state representatives are seeking re-election.

PALESTINE - Palestine High School's boys basketball team defeated Carthage High School's boys basketball team 65-38 on Monday night. The Panthers were led by senior guard Devin Rodriguez, who scored 18 points.

Carthage's major setback was the loss of senior center Timmy Thompson, who was expected to play a key role in the game. Thompson injured his ankle during warm-ups and did not play in the game. Carthage's starting lineup without Thompson was put to the test by the Panthers, who took advantage of the Carthage's weakness in the paint.

The Panthers took control of the game in the first quarter, outscoring Carthage 16-5. Devin Rodriguez scored 10 of those points, including a 3-pointer that put Palestine ahead 13-2. Carthage was unable to keep up with Palestine's rapid pace and struggled to make baskets.

In the second quarter, Palestine continued to dominate, outscoring Carthage 17-8. Devin Rodriguez scored 9 points in the quarter, including a 3-pointer that put Palestine's lead at 33-11. Carthage was unable to make a basket in the quarter and was down 33-11 at halftime.

The third quarter saw Palestine dominate once again, outscoring Carthage 17-6. Devin Rodriguez scored 11 points in the quarter, including a 3-pointer that put Palestine's lead at 50-17. Carthage was unable to make a basket and was down 50-17 at the end of the third quarter.

In the final quarter, Palestine continued to dominate, outscoring Carthage 15-12. Devin Rodriguez scored 6 points in the quarter, including a 3-pointer that put Palestine's lead at 65-29. Carthage was unable to make a basket and was down 65-29 at the end of the game.

Devin Rodriguez was named the game's most valuable player, scoring 28 points for Palestine. Carthage's loss avenges a previous loss to Palestine earlier in the season. The Panthers are now 4-0 in conference play and 9-2 overall.
