Early garden tips sited

More than 2,000 home gardeners are eagerly preparing for their gardens. This is an exciting time of year when the anticipation is high. The US National Gardening Association (USNGA) has released early tips for gardeners to help them get ready for the season. Here are some highlights:

- Start seeds indoors: While it's still cold outside, it's time to start planning. Seeds can be started indoors about 6-8 weeks before the last expected frost date.
- Prepare the soil: Clear and loosen the soil before planting. Make sure it's well-draining and rich in organic matter.
- Protect your plants: Cover your plants with frost cloth or put them in plastic bags to protect them from frost.

These tips are based on the advice of gardeners in different regions and should be adjusted according to local conditions. Always consult local gardening clubs and experts for the best practices in your area.

Jury hears murder trial testimony

New York City — Today, the jury heard testimony from the prosecution and defense in the trial of the defendant, John Doe, charged with murder. The trial, which has been highly publicized, is expected to last several weeks.

The prosecution presented evidence that the defendant had a motive for the murder and that he was at the scene of the crime. The defense, on the other hand, claimed that there is insufficient evidence to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

The trial is being closely watched by the media and the public, with many hoping for a quick resolution. The trial is expected to continue for several more days and the jury is expected to reach a verdict in the coming weeks. The defendant faces a maximum sentence of life in prison if found guilty.

The course will be offered at 10 locations throughout Dallas, including the Dallas Junior College campus. Registration is currently open, and classes start in early April. The cost of the course is $125, which includes all materials and training. More information can be found on the Dallas Junior College website.

Stable oil prices needed

Dear Sir, Phil Dawson,

New in Childress, we recently received a missed phone call that an oil company had offered to reduce our rate to 50 cents per barrel for 50,000 barrels a month. I was very interested in this, but I had no idea how to proceed. Is there a way to optimize the use of this offer?

Yours truly,

Mattox expands system

Attorney General Ken Mattox announced that the office is expanding its services to include small businesses and individuals. The expansion is part of an effort to provide legal assistance to those who have been affected by recent economic downturns.

Previously, the office had four employees. However, due to the significant increase in demand, the office will now have five employees to better serve the needs of its constituents.

Come and take it was first battle cry

"Come and take it" was the first battle cry of the Texan revolution in 1836. It was a call to arms against the Mexican government, which had tried to suppress the Texas Revolution by sending soldiers to Texas. The phrase "come and take it" has since become a symbol of Texas pride and independence.

East Texas to get additional judge

Texas is considering adding an additional judge to its court system to handle the growing number of cases. The move is expected to improve efficiency and reduce backlogs. The decision comes after a recent study by the state's Supreme Court found that the current system is overburdened and inadequate to handle the increasing demand for legal services.

William Few, the captain of the family, continued his campaign to secure military recognition for Texas. He and his men were stationed near Caney Creek, where they encountered Mexican soldiers. The battle lasted several days, resulting in the capture of many Mexican soldiers and the eventual withdrawal of the Mexican forces. The event is considered to be one of the earliest battles of the Texas Revolution.

Severe storm safety tips listed

Thunder and lightning -- the sound of spring

While small changes in the sounds of nature may signal the approach of spring, there is one change that is not welcome: the sound of thunder and lightning. As the weather warms up and storms become more common, it is important to be prepared to protect yourself and your loved ones.

1. Seek shelter indoors when you hear thunder. Lightning is most likely to strike within 300 feet of a cloud-to-ground flash.
2. Don't use electronic devices during a storm. They can be a source of static electricity, which can be dangerous in a thunderstorm.
3. Avoid trees and tall objects. Lightning is attracted to tall objects, and people standing under them are at higher risk.
4. Stay inside during a storm. If you are in a car, pull over and seek shelter in a building.
5. Do not seek shelter in a vehicle during a storm. Instead, seek shelter indoors.
6. Do not use a cell phone during a storm, as it can be a source of static electricity.
7. Stay informed. Listen to weather reports and follow the advice of emergency management officials.

By following these tips, you can help ensure your safety during the spring season.
