Kids for Christ announce Bible contest kickoff

Kris Gibson, treasurer, and Lonnie Breeding, director of the Kids for Christ program, have announced plans for the annual Bible contest to begin Saturday, March 12. The contest kicks off in the book of Genesis, and the finale is set in Revelation.

The contest will be held at a one-day camp. The theme for this year's camp is "The Bible is the Book of God's Love." The camp will be held at the Board of Education Building in Lone Star, Texas. The camp will run from March 12 to March 14.

The first day of the camp will feature a variety of games and activities designed to help the children learn about the Bible. The second day will be devoted to Bible study, while the third day will be set aside for a special program called "The Book of God's Love." The program will feature a variety of skits, songs, and games that will help the children understand the Bible more fully.

The Bible competition begins with a one-minute presentation by each contestant and then moves on to a 10-minute question-and-answer session. The contest will conclude with a Bible verse drill, where contestants will be tested on their knowledge of Bible verses.

The competition is open to all children in grades 1 through 12. Registration is free, and all contestants will receive a prize for participating. The competition is open to students from all over the United States.

The purpose of the contest is to promote the love of the Bible among young people. It is also an excellent opportunity for schools and churches to bring their students together for a fun-filled day of learning.
