Grissom receives awards

Former Panola County Post editor Dick Grissom received the 1986 Bivins Award earlier this month in Branson, Missouri, at the American Newspaper Publishers Association convention in that city. The award was presented to him by the National Newspaper Publishers Association.

The award is presented annually to the highest achieving minority newspaper in the country. Dick Grissom is the editor and publisher of the Panola County Post, a weekly newspaper published in Carthage, Texas.

Bivins Award

The award is named for its founder, the late Dr. J. Daniel Bivins, an civil rights leader and publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Sentinel. The award recognizes excellence in journalism and community service, and is open to minority-owned and operated newspapers across the country.

Dick Grissom, who has been with the Panola County Post since 1972, has received numerous awards for his work, including the National Newspaper Publishers Association's Presidential Award, the Black Press Association of Texas Award, and the Panola County School District's Distinguished Alumni Award.

The Panola County Post has been in operation since 1972, and is the only African-American-owned and operated newspaper in Panola County, Texas.

Comet viewer recalls first visit

Deborah Adams said she was one of the first people to see the comet in Carthage, Texas, in 1986.

"I was just a kid, but I remember being really excited to see the comet," Adams said. "It was a very bright object in the sky, and I remember thinking that it was something special.

"I think it was a really special moment for everyone who saw it," she added. "It was a reminder of how amazing our universe is, and how much there is left to discover.

"I think it's important to remember to look up at the sky, and to appreciate the beauty of our own planet," she concluded.

Beckville ISD approves bid

The Beckville Independent School District Board of Trustees has approved a new high school bond proposal for construction of a new high school.

The new high school will be located on the current site of the campus, and will feature state-of-the-art facilities and amenities.

"We are excited to move forward with this project," said Superintendent Dr. Mark Wilson. "This is a great opportunity to provide our students with the best possible learning environment.

"We are grateful for the support of our community, and look forward to seeing the new high school take shape," he added.

Circulation contest draws 24 hopefuls

Twenty-four hopefuls have submitted applications to participate in the Panola County Post's circulation contest, which is aimed at increasing the newspaper's readership.

The contest will run for six months, and the winner will receive a cash prize of $1,000.

"We are excited to see the level of interest in the contest," said Editor and Publisher Dick Grissom. "It's a great opportunity for our readers to help us grow, and we look forward to seeing the results of the contest.

Texas economy hard hit last week

By Lonnie Williams

The Texas economy has taken a hard hit over the past few weeks, with layoffs and closures in several industries. The oil and gas sector has been particularly hard hit, with numerous layoffs reported throughout the state. The automobile industry has also been affected, with several plants closing or reducing their production rates. The tourism industry has also seen a decrease in visitors, with many travel agencies and hotels reporting a decline in business. The state government has announced plans to provide financial assistance to those affected by the layoffs, including unemployment benefits and job retraining programs. However, many are concerned about the long-term impact on the economy and the state's ability to recover.

Father abducts three children

These small children were abducted by their father while he was in the hospital with an illness. The local police department has issued an Amber Alert and is working with the FBI to locate the children. The father has a history of violent behavior and has been known to travel extensively. The public is urged to report any sightings to their local police department. The children are described as small, with light skin and brown hair. The father is described as a medium build, with brown hair and blue eyes.

Reduced charge draws guilty plea

A man who was Facing a charge of theft was accused of stealing a vehicle from a local business. The man eventually pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to five years in prison. The case was handled by the local district attorney’s office and was considered a significant victory for the state. The man had previously been convicted of several other crimes and was considered a repeat offender.

Medicare doesn’t help

By Lester Wright

Medicare is a vital program for many Americans, providing health care coverage to those aged 65 and older. However, the program has come under scrutiny in recent years for its limitations and the high costs associated with it. Many Medicare recipients are finding that the program does not cover all of their medical expenses, leaving them to pay out of pocket for additional care. As a result, many are considering alternative options, such as Medicare supplements or long-term care insurance, to ensure they have adequate coverage.

Ponies win, 3-2

By Richard Smith

The Ponies dominated the game from start to finish, scoring all three runs in the first inning. The Ponies' defense was solid, allowing only two hits in nine innings. The Ponies' pitcher, John Doe, pitched a complete game, striking out seven batters and walking none. The Ponies' catcher, Jane Doe, caught all nine innings behind the plate.

Dick had a four-run rally in the fifth inning, scoring three runs on a double by Bob Smith and a triple by John Doe. The Ponies' left fielder, Mary Jane, made a great catch to rob the opposing team of a potential run.

The Ponies' third baseman, Bob Smith, made a key play in the sixth inning, turning a double play to get out of a bases-loaded situation. The Ponies' first baseman, John Doe, had a great game, recording 10 putouts and making no errors.

Another trophy haul

The Ponies and Bobcats dominated the trophy haul at the Tournament. The Ponies won the championship trophy, while the Bobcats won the runner-up trophy. The Ponies also won the best offense award, while the Bobcats won the best defense award.

A personal view about advertising

"When a customer comes asking to see an item that was advertised, you know its worth." - Tim Leach

Manager
Bealls

Bealls operates 140 stores in three states. The 100-year-old specialty apparel business uses newspapers as their primary advertising medium.

"Suggested layouts and advertising schedules are sent to the local stores by the marketing department in Dallas, and usually feature holiday sales and annual events such as St. Valentine's Day." - Tim Leach, Bealls manager in Cartersville.

Bealls has been in the same location and the same building in Cartersville since 1962, and has advertised in the Panola Watchman in just about every issue since then.

"I believe advertising in the Panola County Newspapers is the most effective use of our advertising dollars," Leach said.

"When a customer comes in asking to see an item that was advertised, you know it's worth it," he said.

800 children enjoy Easter egg hunt

The Easter Bunny, Cookie Monster, Raggity Ann, and Wacky Bird joined about 800 kids for the fourth annual Great Easter Egg Hunt Saturday at the Carnegie High School north lawn. The hunt was sponsored by Panola Watchman and was held in spite of the cold and cool temperatures added to excitement of the youngsters. About 1,000 candy eggs were hidden and about 800 children turned out for the hunt. Prizes for the hunt were donated by local merchants who spread money in the egg. The winners were to be revealed at the Easter Egg Hunt celebration May 1 before 9 p.m. at the Carnegie Tennis Center. The winners were to receive a variety of items, including candy, toys, and games.

Oil prices promises drastic effects

By REBECCA ROBERTSON

As the world's largest oil producer, the United States is in a unique position to influence global energy markets. However, the current volatile oil prices are causing uncertainty and concern for consumers and businesses alike.

For most Americans, the cost of gas at the pump is a significant expense. With oil prices rising, there are concerns about the impact on the economy and the general well-being of the country. The rising oil prices are affecting not only the energy sector but also industries that rely on transportation and logistics.

In the past, oil prices have fluctuated due to geopolitical events, supply disruptions, and changes in demand. The recent increase in oil prices is particularly concerning due to the potential for a recession and increased inflation. The global economy is already struggling with supply chain disruptions and pandemic-related challenges.

The oil market is complex and influenced by a variety of factors, including production levels, demand, and geopolitical events. As oil prices continue to rise, policymakers and businesses are looking for ways to mitigate the impact and ensure a stable supply of energy.
