Germans flooded to Texas in 1800s

Daniel Todd in Texas

Germans came to Texas in the 1800s, many via the Trail of Tears. Their culture had been shaped by years of oppression and poverty in Europe. Many had hoped to find a better life in the New World, and Texas was seen as a place where they could start anew.

The land rush began in the 1830s, and the influx of settlers—both white and German—was significant. The German immigrants were mainly from the states of Prussia, Bavaria, and Saxony. They brought with them a strong agricultural background and a desire to farm.

By the 1840s, the Texas Republic was facing labor shortages in its frontier settlements. The government offered land grants to encourage settlers, and the Germans, with their agricultural skills, were among the first to take advantage of this opportunity.

The German immigrants were not just farmers; they were also skilled in trades such as carpentry, blacksmithing, and masonry. They brought their own religious and cultural traditions, which were to have a lasting impact on the state.

The Federal Government of Texas granted land to the German immigrants, who established communities such as Fredericksburg, New Braunfels, and Matagorda. These communities thrived and contributed to the state's economy and culture.

In conclusion, the German immigration to Texas in the 1800s was a significant event in the state's history. It not only helped to populate the frontier but also enriched Texas's cultural tapestry and laid the groundwork for its future.

Castleberry K's 11
Dogs gain first by beating Athens

By TOM OCHS

The Athens defense contained Carthage's high-powered offense Saturday, as the No. 10-ranked Bulldogs defeated Carthage 13-6.

Both teams had been undefeated in their respective districts before Saturday's contest, so the outcome was highly anticipated.

The Bulldogs won an early turnover and led 13-0 before Carthage's final drive ended in a punt to end the game.

Castleberry kicked a 39-yard field goal in the third quarter to give Athens an early 3-0 lead. Carthage answered with a 2-yard touchdown run by sophomore quarterback Ben Davis.

After that, the two teams traded punts until Castleberry's second field goal of the game, this one from 27 yards, gave Athens a 6-3 lead going into the fourth quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Athens ran the ball effectively, controlling possession and limiting Carthage's opportunities.

Castleberry's defense proved to be the difference in the game, as the Bulldogs forced four turnovers and limited Carthage's potent offense to just one touchdown.

Help youngsters beat Palm Paint & Body

‘Real’ oldtimers key wins

The Oldtimers really made the difference that day in the final of the Palm Paint & Body International Soccer Classic, held at the Hermann Park soccer fields on Sunday afternoon. The Oldtimers were led by three of their own, including goalkeeper James Tomlinson, forward Bill Joyce, and mid-fielder Paul Johnson. Tomlinson had two saves in the game, while Joyce scored the winning goal. Johnson provided a steady presence in the midfield, controlling the ball and setting up scoring opportunities for his teammates.

Mike Cobban and Dave Mays each had two goals in the game, with Cobban scoring on a penalty kick and Mays on a header. Cobban also assisted on Mays' goal. Tomlinson's save on a shot from Mays in the first half preserved the 2-0 lead. The Oldtimers advance to the championship game against the East Coast XI, where they will attempt to capture their third straight title.

Yard of the month

Couple shares nature with passersby

By Robert Johnson

Rosalie and Eldon Edge of 105 Pinecrest Avenue in Panola have a yard that is very special. They have many trees and flowers that make their yard one of the most beautiful in the neighborhood. The couple has worked very hard over the years to make their yard look the way it does today. They have planted many different flowers and trees in their yard, which make it a beautiful place to be. The couple enjoys spending their time outside, taking in the beauty of their yard.

The Edge’s yard is filled with a variety of trees and flowers, including cherry, dogwood, and azaleas. They also have a large collection of perennials, which bloom throughout the year. The couple has worked hard to create a beautiful garden, which is a true reflection of their love for nature.

The Edge’s yard is a great place for passersby to enjoy, and they are always happy to show it off. They welcome visitors to stop by and take a look at their beautiful yard.

Wall-Mart Discount City uses almost every popular advertising device invented — radio, television, newspaper, and pre-printed circulars. But newspapers take the lead role in supporting each location's efforts.

"We advertise to maintain our image of everyday low prices and never being undersold," said Terry Williams, Wal-Mart store manager in Carthage.

"Newspapers are most effective in showing customers an illustration of the product and in featuring the most important benefit — our low price," Williams said.

Newspaper advertisements are pre-glassed and prepared by the advertising staff in Loveland. The Carthage store, like other Wal-Mart stores, emphasizes the services of the store, the looks of the store, the quality of the products, the low prices, or the high-quality service.

"We test and test the market and the average customer," Williams said.

"We want to get customers into our store regularly. Here, they can take advantage of the low prices, even when the Wal-Mart price rollback policy," Williams said.
