Medicaid matters
By JANIE GORE
Question: What does Medicaid cover for a mother and her infant?
Answer: Medicaid typically covers medical expenses for pregnant women and their infants, including prenatal care, delivery, and postpartum care. It also covers some hospital stays, medications, and other necessary medical services. The specifics can vary based on the state and the individual's income level.

Documented Facts About Incumbent Representative's Voting Record
In his 10 years as a public servant, I have never approved of any legislation that would allow the state to spend more money than it has available. I have always voted against increased spending and against any legislation that would increase taxes. I believe that the best way to balance the budget is to reduce spending and to make sure that we have the money to pay for the programs that we have in place.

In the 10 years since I have been in office, I have voted against every bill that would have increased the state's budget. I believe that the people of Texas should have the opportunity to make the decisions about how their money is spent, and I will always vote against any legislation that would increase taxes.

Lawman of the week
LaGrone puts leash on drug traffic

Dr. George LaGrone was called to the scene of a suspicious activity on a rural road near town late last night. The deed was witnessed by a number of citizens who had been concerned about the increasing number of drug-related incidents in the area. LaGrone, who is a former state trooper, immediately began investigating the matter and soon discovered a large cache of illegal substances hidden in a remote location.

In an interview with the local paper, LaGrone stated, "We're dealing with a serious problem here. It's not just a matter of drugs, but a matter of public safety. We need to get ahead of this and make sure that our community is protected.

A number of local citizens have beeninstrumenting since. They believe that the situation is escalating and called for the immediate action of law enforcement. LaGrone, who is well known for his dedication to the community, has promised to take the necessary steps to bring the situation under control.

A number of other law enforcement officials have been called in to assist with the investigation. The department is currently working to identify the perpetrators and bring them to justice.

Cancer prevention suggested
A recent study has suggested that cancer prevention, mainly through lifestyle changes, is the key to reducing the growth of cancer.

Dr. Robert Brown, a professor of cancer prevention at the University of California, San Francisco, said: "Cancer prevention is not just about avoiding risky behaviors. It's about making healthy choices that can help reduce the risk of cancer."

Dr. Brown emphasized that cancer prevention is a comprehensive approach that includes both lifestyle and environmental factors. "It's not just about avoiding risky behaviors. It's about making healthy choices that can help reduce the risk of cancer."

Dr. Brown also stressed the importance of early detection. "Once you have cancer, it's much harder to treat. That's why prevention is so important."

Local candidates reveal thoughts, plans

Pamela Watchman

What is your position on the area of the best way to handle overcrowding in the community? What steps would you take to improve traffic flow around the downtown area? What are your thoughts on the proposed rezoning of the area? How do you plan to address the needs of the residents who are affected by the proposed rezoning? What is your stance on the issue of affordable housing in the community? What measures would you take to ensure that new developments are built with adequate amenities for the residents?

Hopefuls answer questions

Clare McAlister is a candidate for Justice of the Peace Precinct 4. She is running on a platform of improving access to justice for all members of the community. Her campaign promises include increasing the number of judges in the courthouse, making court proceedings more efficient, and improving the quality of legal services offered to the public.

Other candidate thoughts

Jared Thompson is a candidate for Justice of the Peace Precinct 4. He believes that the current system of justice is broken and needs to be reformed. He plans to implement a new system that is more efficient and fair, and that takes into account the needs of all members of the community.

Tourism meeting scheduled

Thank you note
In many ways touched our hearts with their stories during Edisty's Omen. We always loved to talk with the friends. But after her passing we feel that she left us with the words of love and friendship that we carry with us every day. After the service, it was a time for us to reflect on the wonderful person she was and the impact she had on our lives. We miss her dearly and will always remember her for who she was. Our love goes out to her family and loved ones.

Extra skin care urged
The American Cancer Society (ACS) has made the world of skin care safer and more effective than ever before. The ACS urges everyone to take extra skin care precautions, especially during the long days of summer. This includes using sunscreen, wearing hats, and avoiding direct sunlight. People must also protect their skin from cold temperatures and sunburns during the winter months. A variety of skin care products is available to help protect skin. The ACS encourages people to take extra skin care precautions and to seek medical attention if necessary.

Carthage primary school has Texas chili taste-off

Carthage Primary School first graders got a real taste of Texas last week when they were treated to the state’s favorite dish: chili. The students were divided into groups and each group was given a different type of chili to taste. The children were then asked to rate the chili on a scale of one to ten, with ten being the best. The winners were rewarded with a special treat, such as a pizza party or a field trip to a local restaurant.
