State budget deficit keeps everyone talking

ATHENS, Ohio — Some good news for Ohioans is the state's unemployment rate is back below 5 percent, but that's not the kind of news they want to hear right now.

The Ohio Department of Job and Family Services reported Tuesday that Ohio's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for June was 4.8 percent, down from 5.1 percent in May. The rate is also below the national average of 5.7 percent.

But the good news is mixed with bad. The state's budget deficit is still a major concern, and it's not clear when or how the state will be able to close the gap.

Gov. Mike DeWine announced last week that the state will have to make cuts in order to balance the budget, and he's expected to announce more details in the coming weeks.

The budget deficit is expected to reach $15 billion by the end of the current fiscal year, which ends June 30. The state has already made cuts to education, healthcare and other programs in an effort to balance the budget.

DeWine said he's hopeful that Congress will approve a stimulus package to help states like Ohio during the COVID-19 pandemic.

"We're making progress," DeWine said. "We're going to need federal help, but we're also making progress on our own."

Fruit farmers offered loans

Although Panola County is one of only a few counties covered by a new emergency loan program for fruit and tree nut growers, the program has yet to be fully implemented due to a lack of participation. The program, which is designed to provide assistance to fruit and tree nut growers, was established by the Farm Bill of 1996.据农业部门统计，该县是受这新紧急贷款计划覆盖的少数几个县之一，但由于参与度不足，该计划尚未完全实施。该计划旨在为水果和果树种植者提供援助，是1996年农业法案的一部分。

Founders can be treated

By MARILYN BROWN

There are about as many reasons for fruit growers to look toward the future as there are for any other agricultural enterprise. One reason is that the future holds the potential for increased productivity and efficiency. Another is that the future offers the opportunity to learn from past mistakes and to avoid repeating them.未来的水果种植者需要考虑的问题与任何其他农业企业一样多。原因之一是未来拥有提高生产力和效率的潜力。另一个原因在于未来提供了一个学习过去错误和避免重复这些错误的机会。

In PCOA Rodeo

Top pro riders to compete

Some of the top professional cowboys in the region will be among the competitors during the Okeechobee
PCOA rodeo June 29-30, according to PCOA Thurston. Top pro rider Dan Machalock, who will be riding on Thursday, said: "I'm just looking forward to having a good time and competing with my fellow professional cowboys." He also mentioned that the rivalry among professional riders is stiff but friendly.

Thurston said that the PCOA Rodeo is not only a way for professional riders to test their skills, but also a chance for them to network and build relationships. "It's a great opportunity for riders to connect with others in the industry and exchange ideas and tips," he said.
