"Remarking" facility dedicated Thursday

Female County is State 9-1-1 alerts won the first state championship in the history of the district, defeating Texas Tech, 7-5. In the championship game, Pamela came out of the loser's bracket after Tech defeated her, winning the title with a 5-1 record. The team included: (back row) left to right: Adam Leggett, Tim Traylor, Trip Herrle, Steven Brown, and Tori Davis. (front row) left to right: Scott James, Cody Cackett, (second row) left to right: Stephen Sheppard, Johnathan Brooks, Teresa Neeley, Sherri Schreiber, Bradley Ball, Matti Brown, Rob Blanding, and (front row) left to right: Adam Leggett, Tom Traylor, Trip Herrle, Steven Brown.

City Manager Charles Thomas said the building standards board approved the plans, and the project is expected to be completed by the end of the year. The building will be located at the corner of South Adams Street and Market Street.

The board also voted to approve the installation of a new water main along Market Street. The project is expected to be completed in the next two weeks.

Carthage board considers condemnation

A name that has become synonymous with the Carthage Board of Directors since its inception in 1925 is up for grabs again during the board's meeting tonight. The name, "Remarking" facility, has been in use for over 50 years and has been a part of the Carthage community.

The proposed facility would be located on the corner of Main and Market streets, and the Carthage Board of Directors is expected to vote on the proposal during its meeting tonight.

The facility would be used to store and display items that have been lost or abandoned in the community. The facility would be open to the public during regular business hours, and items can be claimed by their owners or left at the facility.

Funds available

The Carthage Board of Directors has made available funds for projects that benefit the community. These funds are intended to be used for projects that improve the quality of life for Carthage residents.

The funds are available for projects in the areas of education, recreation, and community development. The board has already funded projects such as the Carthage Library and the Carthage Swimming Pool.

Any agency interested in applying for these funds should contact the Carthage Board of Directors at 583-9261.

Donations being sought

A 77-year-old Carthage woman for whom it was once said no one was a stranger at her door in days of old was still funcióning and helping those in need in her later years. In this past week she was at the hospital with a self-inflicted wound and the hospital staff was trying to figure out what to do with her. She was released from the hospital this morning and will be back at her home later today.

Funds available

The Parsonage board of the United Methodist Church of the United States has made arrangements for donations of $500 each to be made to the families of those killed in the recent disaster. The funds will be used to assist the families in their time of need.

Donations being sought

A weekend that was to have been one of the happiest in the life of Dr. and Mrs. McCutchan was bittersweet. The McCutchans, who have been married for 35 years, were celebrating their anniversary when Dr. McCutchan received a call that his sister had died. He and his wife were devastated and the whole family was mourning.

Familiar name pops up

Sherrill Ray McCutchan, 19, was being sought by the Parsonage County sheriff's office on a warrant for a motor vehicle theft. He was last seen on the 4th of July.

Prisoner injured

Gary Will Mast, 21, who was convicted of burglary and grand larceny in December, was injured in a prison fight last week. He was taken to the hospital and is in serious condition.

Temperance movement a form of women's liberation

Demon rum vs. prohibition

The 31st draft of the Texas Constitution in 1983 included a constitutional amendment that took the state into prohibition. It was a big deal. The ballot measure was introduced by the Texas Republican Party and was passed by a narrow margin. The amendment was designed to prohibit the production, sale, and consumption of alcohol in the state of Texas. It was a significant victory for the temperance movement, which had been advocating for prohibition for decades.

Some historians see prohibition as a form of social control, used to suppress the political power of the Irish and other ethnic groups who were heavy drinkers. Others see it as a way to prevent the spread of disease and poverty. Regardless of one's opinion, the passage of the Texas Prohibition Amendment was a major milestone in the history of the state.

J.P. Doodles

Chuck's Country

By Chuck Suttle

When I was in my 20s, I was a huge fan of the Texas Rangers. I followed them closely and was excited about the team's prospects. In one particular game, the Rangers were playing against the Chicago White Sox. The game was tight, and there was a lot of excitement in the stands.

As the game went on, I noticed a man sitting behind home plate who was wearing a suit and tie. I thought he must be a big business executive, but I was surprised to learn that he was actually a professional gambler. The gambler had come to the game to take advantage of the spread on the game.

I remember watching the gambler's face as he made his bets. He looked confident and in control. As the game progressed, his bets became more risky, but he never lost his composure. In the end, the Rangers won the game, and the gambler walked away with a substantial profit.

I learned a lot from that game. I learned that there is a lot to be gained from being risk-averse, and that there is a lot to be lost from taking unnecessary risks. I also learned that there is no such thing as a sure thing, and that even the most confident gambler can be caught off guard.

The gambler was a reminder that life is full of uncertainty. We must always be aware of the risks we are taking, and we must be careful to avoid taking risks that we cannot afford to lose. The gambler was a reminder that even the most confident of us can be caught off guard by the unexpected.

Shelby-Panola Savings Association celebrates 30th anniversary

Shelby-Panola Savings Association marks 30th anniversary with a celebration for customers, business associates.

At the annual meeting held recently, the Shelby-Panola Savings Association celebrated its 30th anniversary with a special tree planting ceremony, given before members and guests.

According to the association's president, the planting of the tree was a symbolic gesture of the association's commitment to its community and its future.

Current officer and director, bank president and chief executive officer, said the association was proud to mark its anniversary with a special event.

"This tree planting ceremony is a symbol of our commitment to the community and to the future," he said.

The event was held on the association's property and was attended by members of the community, including local officials and business leaders.

The ceremony included the planting of a tree, which was donated by the association.

The tree was selected to represent the association's 30th anniversary and to symbolize its commitment to the community.

The tree planting ceremony was followed by a special reception where members and guests were able to enjoy refreshments and speak with association officials.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

By Tom Goodwin

It's important to remember our past as we look to the future. Our history helps us understand where we've come from and how we've reached our current state.

As we consider the financial challenges we face today, it's important to remember the challenges our predecessors faced. Our predecessors were faced with the same economic conditions that we are today.

By looking at our history, we can see that we've overcome past challenges. This is a testament to our resilience and ability to adapt.

As we move forward, we must continue to build on our past successes. We must continue to innovate and find new ways to meet the needs of our community.

Stock market drops today

On the New York Stock Exchange, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was down 214.36, to 8,707.13. The S&P 500 was down 30.94, to 883.86, and the Nasdaq Composite was down 41.64, to 1,725.29.

The drop in the stock market was due to concerns about the economic outlook, as well as uncertainty about the outcome of the upcoming presidential election.

The U.S. economy has been struggling in recent months, with job growth slowing and inflation rising.

Bullock orders reduction of workforce, closes offices

State Comptroller Tom Bullock ordered a reduction in his agency's workforce and the closure of several offices in order to reduce state spending.

The order, which affects approximately 1,500 employees, is the result of the state's economic downturn and the need to cut costs.

The state's budget is projected to be in the red by $1.2 billion in next fiscal year, and Bullock's order is part of the effort to reduce the deficit.

The order affects several offices, including the state's Offices of the Auditor and the State Treasurer.

The order was signed into law by Governor Phil Bryant on October 1.

A Question...

When was the last time a New Yorker sent money to pay for your local schools?

I don't recall.

And you, this year, you know, Texas...we spend $20 billion in New York, I don't know how much New York...you know, you've got...you've got...you've got...

Not sure. Texas is...is...is....

You can also use other means of payment, such as checks, money orders, or credit cards.

No, according to the database, the most recent payment was in 2018. The database does not include any payments in 2019.

The Texas Comptroller's Office has the authority to collect these payments on behalf of the state.

The Commissioner of Education has the authority to collect these payments on behalf of the state.

These payments are used to fund the state's public schools and to provide education-related services.

We encourage you to make these payments in a timely manner to ensure that the state is able to provide the necessary funding to public schools.

I wish I could sing, and think it is a talent I have always been deficient in. I find it a bit of a sad thing to sing now. Sometimes, I wish I could sing like I used to. I have been thinking about singing lately. As I was growing up, my mother always sang to me. She was the best singer I have ever heard. She had this beautiful, clear voice. When she sang, it was like music to my ears. I used to love it when she would sing me to sleep. She would sing to me every night before I went to bed. It was always a special time for me. She would sing songs from all around the world, and it was like a world of music to me. I wish I could sing like her now. It would be a beautiful thing.

CULVERT issue buried

Carthage city officials have been receiving some complaints from residents about the odor of sewage gas in certain areas of the city.

The odor is caused by an unlined sewer pipe under the old Carthage Military Park, which was razed several years ago.

The city has hired a consultant to study the problem and recommend a solution.

The consultant has recommended that the pipe be lined with a cement-like material to seal it.

The city has received a grant from the state to help pay for the lining.
