Library Corner

Growing up during the month of August, for most children was nothing but fun and games. We had the 4th of July and all the parades and picnics to look forward to. However, the responsible ones were already preparing for their upcoming school year. As the days got warmer, we could see the fall crops growing in the fields. We were excited to see the leaves change colors and the first frost of the season.

Thanks expressed

The family of Byron Blackburn would like to express our heartfelt thanks to all those who have connected with us over the years. We appreciate the love and support we have received from our friends and family. We are grateful for the kindness and compassion shown to us during our time of need.

Politics make for strange columns

By NELLE B. WILLIAMS

The political scene in the Panola area as of late has been a source of much excitement. Last week saw the announcement of the candidates for the upcoming election, and the suspense has been building ever since. It seems that everyone is on edge, waiting to see which candidate will come out on top.

The candidates themselves are also feeling the pressure, as they scramble to secure the votes of the people. This is a particularly intense time for them, as they try to make their cases and convince voters of their qualifications and suitability for office.

Many voters are also feeling the pressure as they try to decide which candidate best aligns with their values and priorities. The candidates' positions on various issues are being scrutinized, and voters are poring over the candidates' backgrounds, trying to make an informed decision.

With the election just around the corner, the political climate is one of heightened tension and anticipation. The outcome of this election could have far-reaching implications, and everyone is looking forward to seeing the results.

LEWIS held firm on taxes for awhile

By DEANNA W. MILLER

The topic of taxes has been in the news a lot lately, with many people concerned about the rising cost of living and the impact of taxes on their wallets. In Panola, the council has been discussing the issue of taxes for a while now, and there has been a lot of debate on the matter.

Some members of the council have been pushing for an increase in taxes to cover the city's budget, while others have been against it, arguing that it would put a strain on residents' finances. It seems that the council is divided on the issue, and there are no clear answers as to what the best course of action would be.

Regardless, it looks like the council will be facing this issue for a while longer, and residents will have to remain vigilant and keep an eye on their wallets as the council continues to discuss the matter. It's clear that the issue of taxes is a complex one, and there is no easy solution to the problem.
Have you heard the story of the hot-dog vendor?

An elderly gentleman had been a hot-dog vendor for many years. In fact, he had very diligently made and sold the best hot-dog around. He was well known for his excellent food and his pleasant demeanor. People from all over would come to try his hot-dogs.

One day, a young boy approached him and said, "Sir, I have a hot-dog stand, but I need help. People are not coming to my stand like they used to." The elderly gentleman thought for a moment and then replied, "Young man, you need to learn the secret of the perfect hot-dog. It's not just about the hot-dog, but also about how you present it. You need to make it look tasty and inviting." He then shared some tips on how to cut the hot-dog, how to add the perfect amount of condiments, and how to make it look appealing.

The young boy thanked him and went on his way. The elderly gentleman watched as the boy applied the tips and his stand started to thrive. People began to flock to the boy's stand, and soon, it became the most popular in the area.

The elderly gentleman felt a sense of pride and satisfaction. He had helped the young boy achieve something he had been struggling with for a long time. He realized that helping others can bring genuine joy and satisfaction to our lives.

Dogs No. 4; Jackets 9th

There were only 12 changes in the Jackets lineup last week, but Fred Favilla, the school's all-time rushing leader, saw a good amount of action against the Malverne Blue Demons. The Jackets finished the season with a 7-1 record after defeating Malverne, 28-0, in the 1978 season finale.

Favilla, who rushed for 1,235 yards and 10 touchdowns last season, had 12 carries for 68 yards and a touchdown against Malverne. He also caught three passes for 35 yards and a touchdown.

In addition to Favilla, the Jackets had three other players score touchdowns. Mike Long, a senior wide receiver, caught two passes for 34 yards and a touchdown. Junior linebacker John Smith had 18 tackles and a sack, and senior quarterback Tom Broderick passed for 129 yards and a touchdown.

Malverne's only score came on a 45-yard field goal by senior kicker Ryan Johnson.

Even the corn meal is home grown...

Good earth bounty makes eating a family adventure

By DONALD KENTLE

RIO GRANDE VALLEY TIMES (McAllen)

The corn meal and yellow cheese in the kitchen do not come from the supermarket. It was not surprising Joe and Mary K. Korn's home in the small Hamlin community of the Rio Grande Valley where Joe has been a teacher for many years.

The Korns grow a garden and raise their own chickens. The corn meal is ground from the corn that they grow and the yellow cheese is made from the milk of their own cows.

The Korns say that this is the way they have always done it and they enjoy the taste of the fresh, home-grown corn meal and cheese.

Joe Korn says that the corn meal is used in their breakfast cereal and that the cheese is used in their homemade bread. They also enjoy the fresh eggs that they get from their chickens.

The Korns say that they are proud of their home-grown food and that they enjoy sharing it with their family and friends.
