Campaigns back on track

By Lambeth Williams
Texas Press Association

The campaigns for candidates from one party to another has largely been put on hold as the two parties struggle to find a way to move forward. This has left many concerned that the two parties may be unable to come to a compromise, and that the outcome of the election will depend largely on which party can the most voters to their side.

As the campaigns continue, both parties are working hard to try to win over as many voters as possible. However, some have expressed concern that the campaigns are not as focused on the issues as they once were, and that the candidates are more interested in simply trying to win the election than in actually helping the people they represent.

EDITORIAL

Law is for everyone

By Robert Johnson
Texas Press Association

Recently, a group of citizens has been protesting against the construction of a new prison. They claim that the prison will be overcrowded and that the conditions inside are inhumane. The protesters are calling for the immediate closure of the prison and for the release of all prisoners.

The issue of prison overcrowding and the treatment of prisoners is a complex one, and there are many different perspectives on how it should be handled. However, it is important to remember that the law is for everyone, and that all citizens are entitled to the same rights and protections.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

By David White
Texas Press Association

In recent years, there has been a trend towards increased focus on financial management and planning. This is particularly important during times of economic uncertainty, when it can be difficult to make ends meet.

However, it is important to remember that financial planning should be personalized to meet the specific needs of each individual. It is not a one-size-fits-all solution, and what works for one person may not work for another.

Congressmen get 100's, 0's

By Jane Doe
Texas Press Association

A recent study found that many congressman are receiving low grades from organizations that grade their performance. This has raised concerns about the quality of representation in Congress.

While some argue that these grades are unfairly low, others believe that they provide a useful tool for voters to hold their representatives accountable. It is important for voters to stay informed and to ask questions about their congressman's record before voting in the next election.

CHS defense turns big plays again

By TED LEACH

The Panthers' defense was the key to their victory as they held the Bruins to 13 points. The Panthers' defense allowed only 13 points in their last three games.

Carthage defense paves way to win

HENDERSON - Clive Petsch, Clay Black, Herb Ritter, Bob Jones and Michael Prip, among others, led Carthage to victory over Henderson Friday night. The Dogs' strong defense stymied Henderson and kept the Lions from scoring. The Carthage defense also forced three turnovers, and the Lions had trouble moving the ball against the Dogs. Carthage improved its record to 5-1 and moved into first place in the loop opener.

The Lions, led by quarterback Jerry Castleberry, were no match for the Carthage defense. Castleberry tried to lead the Lions on a drive early in the game, but the Dogs' defense held him to only one first down. Castleberry was sacked three times in the first half, and the Lions were forced to punt on their next possession. The Lions' defense held strong, but Carthage took over on downs at midfield.

Quarterback Jerry Castleberry (12) was the key to unlocking the mystery of beating Henderson.

Pups fall

Carthage's defense was on point as the pack piled up 11 tackles on the ground and held Henderson to just 73 yards on the ground. The Pups confined Henderson's quarterback, Jerry Castleberry, to a mere 56 yards passing, and the Dogs' defense forced three turnovers.

B team loses

Carthage's B team was no match for Henderson's varsity, falling 28-7. The Pups were led by quarterback Jerry Castleberry, who threw for 150 yards and two touchdowns. Carthage's defense held Henderson to just 100 yards on the ground, but the Lions were able to get on the board with a field goal late in the game.

Bluegrass gospel hits Panola County in big way

Will Carthage become gospel capital?

By SONDRA MERRIL
The editor of a church-related magazine recently told me that the town of Carthage, Texas, is becoming the "gospel capital" of the state.

The reason was its growing number of bluegrass and gospel music festivals. Carthage has two such events each year, attracting musicians from all over the country.

The festivals feature bluegrass and gospel music, with some well-known musicians performing. The first event is held in April, and the second in October.

The town has also been named the "Gospel Capital of Texas" by the state legislature, which has designated a day each month to celebrate the town's musical heritage.

In addition, Carthage has a bluegrass and gospel music museum, which is open year-round.

The town's motto is "Music is the Heart of Carthage," and it is true that music is a big part of the town's culture.

I visited Carthage recently and was impressed by the enthusiasm of the locals for their music. The festival organizers are also doing a great job of promoting the events.

I would definitely recommend attending one of Carthage's bluegrass and gospel music festivals if you love music and enjoy the company of others who do too.

Carthage is located in East Texas, about an hour and a half north of Houston. It's a small town with a population of around 6,000 people, but it has a big heart and is well worth a visit.

The town has a lot to offer besides its music festivals. It has a beautiful downtown area with several shops and restaurants, and it's surrounded by picturesque countryside.

So if you're looking for a place to celebrate music, and especially bluegrass and gospel music, Carthage, Texas, is definitely worth a visit.

Bluegrass music has been around for a long time, but it's become more popular in recent years due to the rise of festivals like the ones in Carthage. If you love bluegrass and gospel music, then you'll definitely want to check out Carthage, the "gospel capital" of Texas!
GOD LIGHTS UP THE TREES IN OCTOBER WITH A FIERY SPLENDOR

T need not be in kind or another is simply a tint of light that is momentarily felt, as it is to which we naturally pay very little attention as we wave their flags at a hot day. However, it is quite likely that when we live or work we can say some of those right away on our window. Depending on the color, trees grow marvelously in months, except for the cold and droughts, the frost lends itself to the mansions above the leaf buds. However, this event of the year when, in any temperate region, we see the colors that they put on display for us with their flame colored leaves, as their grand hues become the splash of color on our House of Worship, let us thank God for this gift of glory in this event of the year. It is our chance to enjoy, let us remember that it is but one manifestation of the beauty of his creation and the wonder of the wise.

These merchants urge you to attend the church of your choice this Sunday!

Carthage eyes All- America Award

The City of Carthage may soon be launching a campaign to promote itself as an All- America City. The campaign, which is being developed by the City Council, is expected to begin in the near future.

The goal of the campaign is to increase the visibility of Carthage as a tourist destination and promote the city's economic development. The campaign will include a variety of promotional materials, including a website, brochures, and advertising in tourism publications.

The City Council has approved a budget for the campaign, and funds will be released immediately. The campaign is expected to continue for several years, and the City Council will review its progress periodically.

The City of Carthage is currently home to over 10,000 residents, and the population is expected to grow to over 15,000 by the year 2020. The City Council is committed to making Carthage a vibrant and attractive place to live and work, and the All- America City campaign is a key part of this effort.
