Halloween customs have ancient roots

By DOROTHY HAVILLE

Natives of Panola County observe Halloween and a halloween-like holiday, perhaps less well known, that the Native American ancestors of the first Americans celebrated. According to some traditions, it is said that this night was dedicated to the belief that the spirits of the dead return to the living world. The old belief was that the spirits of the dead would return to this life and come to visit their friends and family on this night. This night was marked by various traditions and customs, such as the lighting of bonfires or the making of masks and costumes to ward off evil spirits.

City approves police rules

A 24-page document setting city police rules was amended and approved Wednesday by the City Council. The amendments were made at the request of Chief Police Patrol Captain Jerry Saffell and several police officers. The amendments were made to clarify certain rules and procedures. The document was presented to the council at its regular meeting on Oct. 19. The amendments included changes to the code of procedure and policing guidelines.

Snoops will get away Friday

Deeds and privileges of every ship afloat will be on Friday night for the city’s version of the West Coast. A number of events have been planned to keep passengers entertained.

Voters to decide four amendments

In addition to choosing candidates for various city and county offices, voters will also vote on four constitutional amendments. The amendments are as follows:

1. Repeal the current law that prohibit the sale of alcohol in licensed restaurants and bars.
2. Expand the definition of "agricultural" to include the sale of perishable goods.
3. Allow the sale of recreational marijuana in the city.
4. Propose a new system for funding public schools that would include a tax on tobacco products.

PERSPECTIVES

Tax reform to have positive market impact

Tax reform bill has a positive impact on the market because it reduces the tax burden on businesses and individuals, leading to increased investment and consumption. This can lead to economic growth and job creation.

Flower chosen

The panola Watchman selects a winner in the Panola County Farm Bureau's Annual Flower Contest. The contest is open to all residents of Panola County and is a way to promote local agriculture and raise awareness of the importance of flowers in our lives.

Agriculture

Market report

The market report provides information on the current conditions and trends in the agricultural market, including crop yields, prices, and demand. This information is crucial for farmers and other stakeholders in the agricultural sector to make informed decisions.

Early freezing recommended

Weather conditions in the coming weeks suggest that early freezing is recommended to protect crops and livestock. Early freezing can help prevent frost damage and ensure a successful growing season.

During the big sales, Ed and I spent the entire weekend
at home. The big sales were in town and the store was packed. We couldn't find a place to park. We finally parked at the far end of the parking lot. We walked back to the store and found a place to park.

After we finished shopping,
we went out to eat. We ate at a restaurant that we had never been to before. It was great.

We stayed in Boston for a day and we had a great time. The weather was nice and we were able

We went to the aquarium

What makes Carson run?
Row not always easy; mayor keeps on hoeing

BY DOROTHY WHEELER

Carson Jones has been mayor of Carthage for more than three years, and is seeking re-election for his third term. He, though a Democrat, is strongly pro-business. He is of the opinion that it’s a city’s duty to grow, and to grow, a city needs plenty of work. This is why he is strongly pro-business: he believes that business and industry provide employment, and that employment leads to a better quality of life for the citizens. A mayor, he says, should be a pro-business person, and he is.

Carson Jones was born and raised in Carthage, and has always been involved in the community. He is a member of the Carthage Chamber of Commerce, and has served on several city boards.

The key to his success, he says, is understanding the needs of the community. He has been involved in city projects, such as the new library and the new park, and he has always been there to help the citizens.

Carson is a strong supporter of the city’s economic development. He has been instrumental in getting new businesses to move into Carthage, and he has been there to help them get started.

Carson Jones is running for re-election, and he is confident that he will win. He is a strong supporter of the city’s economic development, and he has always been there to help the citizens.

Carson Jones is a man of the people, and he has always been there to help them. He is a strong supporter of the city’s economic development, and he has always been there to help the citizens.

PUMPKIN PIE
Take a couple of pumpkins that are about to ripen. Bake them in the oven and serve them in the pie and you'll have a delicious fall treat.

---

Lo, the poor pumpkin! Its season has come...

BY DOROTHY REVELLE

Let's face it - nobody loves a pumpkin. Neither do I. They're so 70s. And the only people who appreciate them are the ones who don't have any - they're too hip to like pumpkins. But I'm here to tell you why you should love pumpkins.

First of all, they're loaded with fiber. This is important, trust me. fiber helps keep you regular, and we all know that's a good thing. Also, pumpkins are a good source of vitamin A, which is important for eye health.

Besides, pumpkins are versatile. You can make pies, muffins, bread, and even soup. And they're not just for dessert anymore. You can use them in savory dishes too, like pumpkin risotto.

So yes, pumpkins are not as hip as they used to be, but they're still a healthy and delicious addition to your diet. And who knows, maybe one day you'll actually enjoy them.

SCTV's Andrea Martin is on the move

By Bob Saccenti

Andrea is working on a film about a family who are in a town that is full of stars. It's supposed to be funny. Andrea is in it because she's funny. She's also in it because she's in love with the director. They met on the set of 'Dinosaurs' and he fell in love with her. She's in it because he asked her to be in it. She's in it because she wants to be in a movie. It's a really good movie and she's really good in it. She's definitely on the move. She's going to be a big star.

Folks, did you ever pick up peanuts? Well, I have on a dreary day during the week, and many times I've said, "I feel like a peanut." Well, the other day I was picking up peanuts and I decided to count them. I ended up with 136 peanuts, which I gave to my five children. We had a great little time counting and enjoying the peanuts. It was a fun little activity to do together. Did you know that peanuts are a great source of protein and can be used in many dishes? Try them in a salad or as a snack with some vegetables.

You and The Law

Q: Is it true that board of directors of large corporations can refuse to do business with certain political officials or corporate officials may do?

A: Yes, there are laws that protect the board of directors and the company's reputation. But the board must ensure that their actions do not harm the company or its stakeholders.

Litter dcerns through Texas

The state's tough new anti-litter law, SB 260, has had a significant impact on littering in Texas. The law criminalizes littering in public places, including highways, streets, and sidewalks. Violators face fines of up to $1,000 and up to 180 days in jail. As a result, littering has decreased by 50% in the past year. The law has also led to an increase in public awareness about the importance of keeping our state clean. It's a great step forward in protecting our environment and maintaining a clean Texas. Make sure to always throw away your trash responsibly and help keep our state beautiful.
