Texas tops $1 million mark on beef assessments

Texas had the $1 million mark in October for Beef Cattle assessments, according to the Beef Cattle Utilization Board in Austin. Texas has $1.3 million dollars left to assess on this year’s cattle. "We are very excited with the cattle that we have left and we’re doing better with this year’s cattle," said the Treasurer of the Texas Beef in Family Church. "This year’s cattle have been trended from the point of view that a new time is a new era with the new era," said the beef's representative.

Lesser-known Christmas legends charm, delight

Poinsettia, Christmas tree, rosemary

By Darvelle Hinkle

Just about everyone knows the story of the holly or mistletoe, but the Poinsettia is also a legend. It was named for Joel Poinsett, who was the first American ambassador to Mexico. He introduced his family to story of the Christmas Poinsettia to U.S. President Abraham Lincoln.

Picture of St. Nicholas often seen as a jolly old man with a bag of toys, but this story is called "The Legend of Saint Nicholas." It tells how he was a young man whose parents died and who was left penniless. He went to a village of poor people and gave them all the toys and gifts they needed.

Of course, the habit of giving presents in Christmastime is not new. The giving of gifts is related to the custom of giving presents to the poor at Easter and Christmas in pre-Christian times. The idea of giving presents to the poor is a very old one and is based on the Christian belief in the importance of charity.

The Legend of the Christmas Tree is also another legend. It tells how a poor girl named Maria was given a small Christmas tree by her parents and how she decorated it with candles and ornaments.

Of course, the idea of decorating trees is a very popular one today and is related to the old custom of decorating a living tree. The living tree was decorated with lights and ornaments and candles to celebrate the coming of Christ.

Sharing with elderly can make memories

By JEANNETTE MILLS

Many of us don’t realize the impact that Christmas can have on the daily lives of the elderly. It is a time when families gather to offer each other love and joy. It can also bring a sense of loneliness and isolation.

During the holidays when families are exposed to the stress and demands of the season, older adults often feel isolated and alone. They may lack the resources and support to cope with the challenges of the holiday season.

Here are a few tips for sharing with elderly this holiday season:

- Engage in conversation:
  - Ask questions about their memories and experiences with the holidays. This can help them feel connected and valued.
  - Listen actively and show interest in what they have to say.

- Provide practical support:
  - Offer to help them with chores or errands.
  - Provide transportation to holiday events.

- Encourage participation:
  - Encourage them to participate in family activities, even if they can’t do much physically.
  - Offer to assist them in preparing a special meal.

- Keep it simple:
  - Don’t overwhelm them with too many activities or expectations.
  - Keep the environment comfortable and relaxed.

If you haven’t thought about these things before, please consider reaching out to a neighbor to see if they need any help during this time. They will appreciate your kindness and love.

Tree is gift from Norway

By Mary B. Christensen

Many Americans spend the holidays in Los Angeles, but few know how the festive season began in Norway. In 1922, the American Red Cross sent a Norwegian nurse to train nurses in Los Angeles. The nurse returned to Norway to bring a tree as a gesture of goodwill. This tree was planted in Los Angeles, and from that day, the tradition of the Christmas tree has grown.

Christmas magic nothing new, says London writer

By Charles Dickens

I have been looking, this morning, through some old newspapers, and have come across a surprising fact that pretty far back a Christmas tree was planted in the middle of a London street. At first sight, it was frighteningly bright, and spangled with fairy lights, and splashed with gold and silver, and glittering with tiny balls and streamers. But when you got close enough, you realized that it was all made of wood, and had been painted to look like the real thing. The tree was a symbol of hope and joy, and was decorated with gifts and decorations to bring cheer to those who passed by.

Letters to Santa

Now for the important stuff...

Dear Santa Claus,

I hope this finds you well. I write to you to request a few items for Christmas. I've been good all year, but I could use a little help.

1. A new bike - I've always wanted to learn how to ride a two-wheel wonder. It would make my day.
2. A pack of Legos - I love building and creating with these little bricks.
3. A pet - I've always wanted a companion to play with.

Thank you for your consideration. I'm looking forward to a fantastic Christmas!

Sincerely,
[Name]

Dear Santa Claus,

I am writing to you to request a new toy for Christmas. It would make my holiday amazing.
